This Patriot is unique in that it marks an important milestone in the history of Seymour High School. We know for sure that the "Patriot" evolved from the small commencement programs of the original Seymour High School. We believe that the earliest of these programs was for the third commencement of SHS, held on June 8, 1876 (the program for this commencement is reproduced on the front endsheet of this book). If our assumptions are correct — and we have every reason to believe that they are — then this 1975 "Patriot" that you are now holding is the One-Hundredth "Patriot"! There will never be another yearbook with this same theme, these pictures, these memories. The 1975 Patriot will hopefully capture the laughter and the tears, the successes and the failures, and, more importantly, all of the memories and promises of not only this school year, but also those of a century ago.

Summer School

Summer, supposedly a season of rest and relaxation, was a very busy time for some Seymour High School students as the 1974 SHS summer school program began. On June 3, there were over 770 students enrolled, making it the largest attendance in summer school ever.

Out of the eight classes offered, Driver Education ranked as the most popular subject with 169 students, while Biology came in a close second with 144 students. Government, Economics, U.S. History, Health, and Boys' and Girls' Physical Education were also offered.

The Sophomore class seemed to be the most industrious as there were more sophomores enrolled than any other class.

Bicycles provide the main means of transportation for many summer school students.

Summer Workshops

Last summer, certain selected students from SHS were privileged enough to attend summer workshops which broadened their numerous talents and skills. From these workshops, students with interests in government, journalism, music, art, or a variety of other subjects can further their education and thus can contribute the knowledge gained by their experiences to other students at Seymour High School.

HONOR WINNERS

Throughout each school year, many students are given the opportunity to display and use their talents and perfect upon them. These students are given the chance to compete with students from other areas as well as other SHS students. By combining interest, talent, and hard work, these students bring honor and recognition to themselves and Seymour High School.

Senior Carla Pottschmidt won the Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow award.

Senior Sandy Emkes received the honor of being chosen D.A.R. Good Citizen.

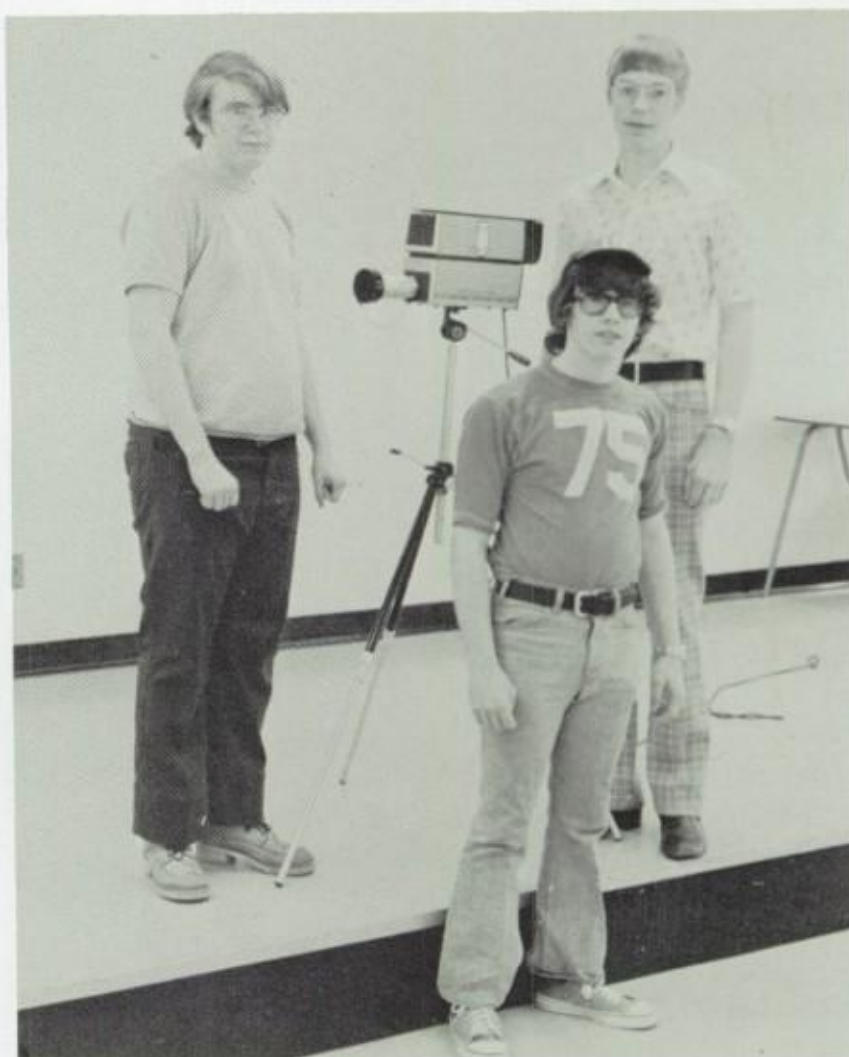

Jon Hinnefeld, Becky Steltenpohl, and Jon Meyer placed in the finals of the National Merit Scholarship contest.

Senior Dana Thompson (CENTER) was selected to play in the All-State Band, and Linda Romine and Dan Fleetwood were chosen as alternates to the Band.

Mark Rust and Bob Wright represented SHS in the Indiana State University Trouble-Shooting Contest. Wright and Jim Carpenter placed first in the local Plymouth Trouble-Shooting Contest.

David Quinn, Eric Raymer, and Jeff Thompson participated in the Voice of Democracy Speech Contest held here at SHS for Jackson County.

Open House

ABOVE: During the two hours of Open House, art students like Janet Swain and Karen Pardieck worked in Room 106 to demonstrate the techniques that art students were learning. RIGHT: Earl Prout, vocal music teacher, leisurely chats with students and visitors during the evening.

The theme for SHS's Open House in 1974 was "Stay Involved," which was also the theme for American Education Week, and "stay involved" is exactly what nearly seven hundred parents and guests did when they attended on Thursday night, October 17. The annual event gave parents and interested individuals the opportunity to visit SHS's facilities and talk to teachers and school personnel.

Students from the Art Club and the Student Council also contributed by displaying exhibits, registering guests, and running the video-tape machine.

The 1974 Open House was not only a time to "stay involved," but an enjoyable time too, with the cafeteria workers serving punch and cookies to all the visitors and guests throughout the evening.

Parents' Night

On November 1, 1974, SHS staged the second annual Parents' Night, honoring the moms and dads of all the OWL football players and cheerleaders during the final home game of the season.

Before the game, the players and the cheerleaders escorted their parents onto the field, where they were introduced to the crowd. Then the parents were seated in a special section in the center bleachers to view the game.

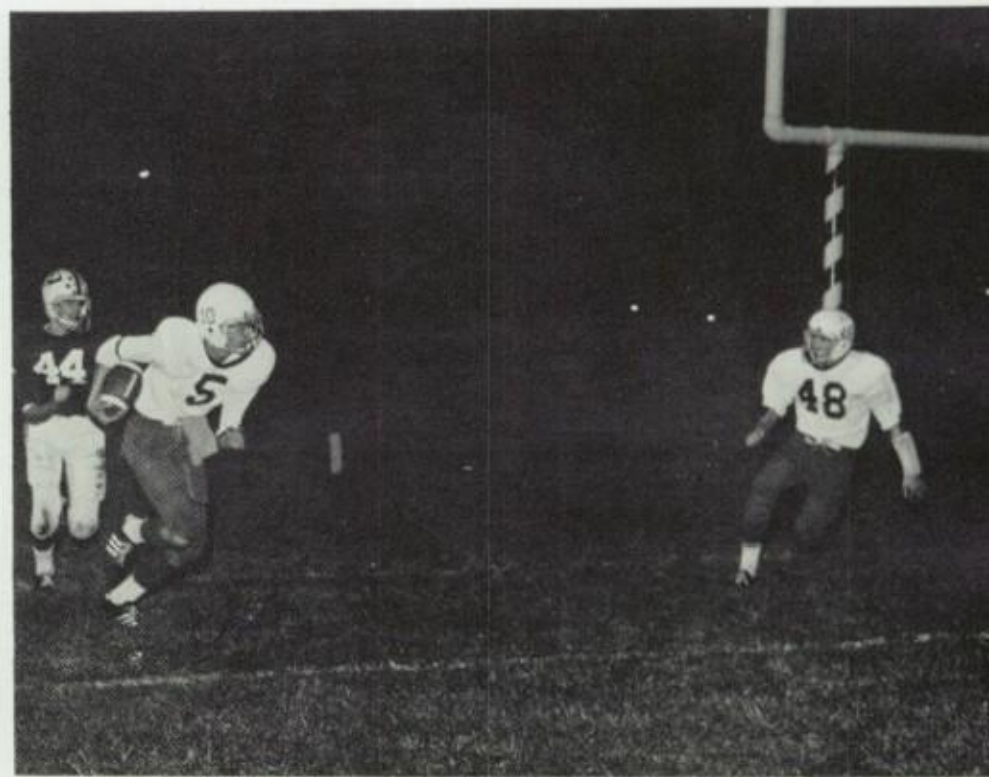

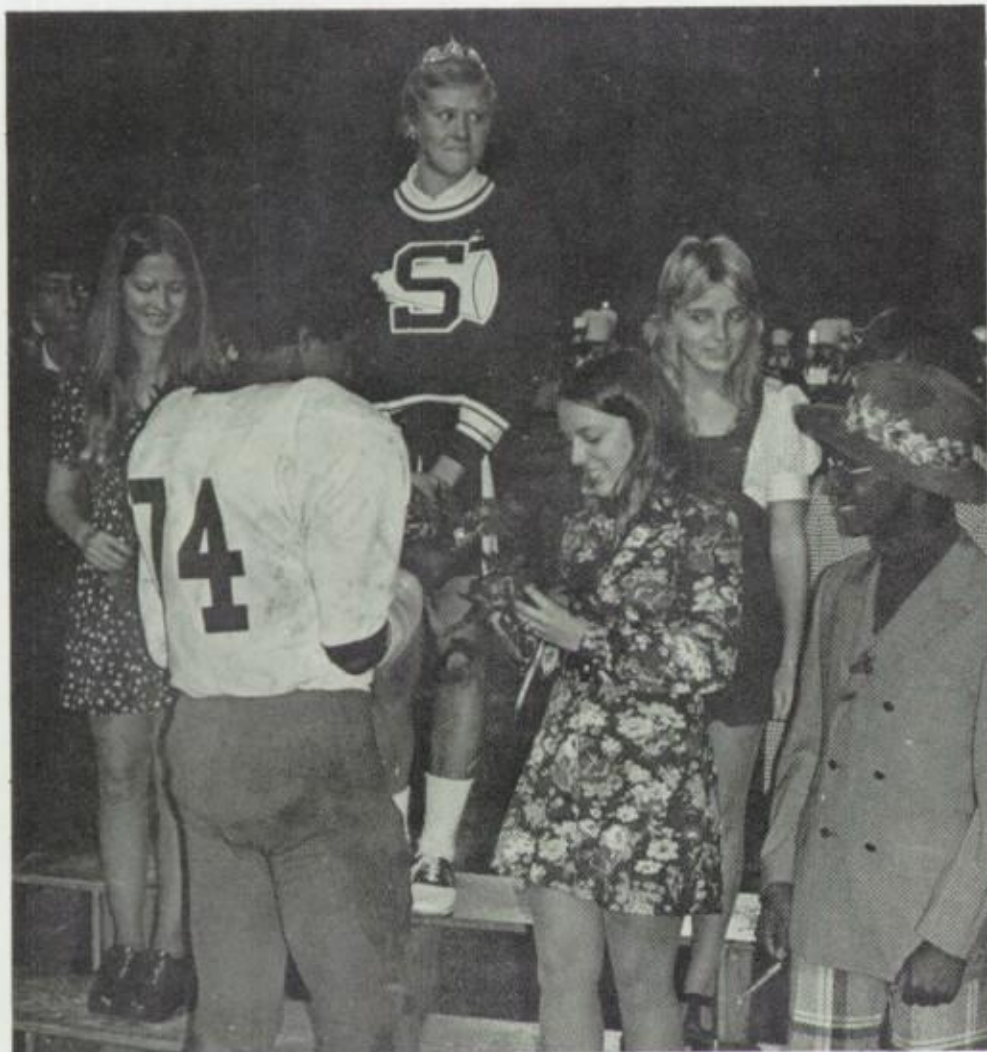

For the third straight year, however, Clarksville Providence's rugged Pioneers spoiled the festivities, this time by shutting out the young OWLs 34-0.

Even though spirits were dampened somewhat, after the game, sandwiches and snacks were served by the cafeteria workers to the team, their parents, and members of the SHS faculty.

1974 HOMECOMING COURT AND ESCORTS: Steve Zarick, Danny Thomas, Eileen Elsner, Queen Rexanne Earley, Susan Blish, Tina Tindell, Anthony Campbell, Irvin Shelton.

On Friday, October 11, Seymour hosted Jeffersonville for the Homecoming football game. During halftime ceremonies, senior Rexanne Earley was crowned the 1974 Homecoming Queen by OWL co-captains Bo McDougal and Jeff Laupus. Although Rexanne had to return to her cheerleading duties, the members of her court were seated in a special section for the second half of the game.

The game itself proved to be as exciting as the festivities of the evening. The OWLs scored late in the game and went for a two-point conversion to win, but narrowly missed and fell to the Red Devils 14 to 13.

"OLIVER"

Each year, the whole community look forward to the popular musicals presented by the SHS Advanced Choir, and they were not disappointed in the fall of 1974. Under the much-appreciated guidance of Choir Director Earl D. Prout, the members of the Advanced Choir brought the musical, "Oliver!" to life on the SHS auditorium stage; huge crowds gave standing ovations to both the Friday and Saturday night performances.

"Oliver" characters Mr. Bumble (Kent Vermillion) and the Widow Corney (Sandy Emkes) greedily finger the pure gold locket as Old Sally (Peggy O'Connor) tells them about Oliver's mother.

On the bustling last night of dress rehearsal, Mr. Prout calmly gives students up on the stage their last-minute instructions.

The Artful Dodger (Kim Prout) and the chorus warmly welcome Oliver (Joe Meyer) by singing "Consider Yourself."

In sly Mr. Fagin's house of thieves, the Artful Dodger, along with Nancy (Jane Miller), anxiously await the decision about what's to be done with Oliver.

"THE WHOLE DARN SHOOTING MATCH"

Mrs. Ralston is on her feet to tell one of her actors how to make a turn. Constantly trying to help from a critic's point of view is just one of her jobs.

Zany and hilarious are two descriptions of the Dramatics Club's 1975 production of "The Whole Darn Shooting Match." Weeks of hard work paid off as an excellent performance was given in a comedy about the advertising world. The characters ranged from a brazen TV commercial writer to a whole staff of off-beat personnel. The laugh-a-minute plot revolved around a small ad agency that promotes what turns out to be a popular liquid detergent.

Holiday Concerts

Backed by the Advanced Choir, Scott Bishop moves the audience with his rendition of "O Holy Night."

The brass section of the Symphonic Band is featured in "Trumpets Wild" during the Holiday Concert.

On the evening of December 19, and again the following day, a little bit of Christmas cheer was offered by the SHS Choral Department as it presented its annual holiday concert, "Sounds of Christmas." The offer was well received by the community on Thursday evening and by the student body at the two convos on Friday.

The Concert and Symphonic Bands also added to the holiday spirit. They presented their concert on Thursday, December 12, to their families, friends, and other members of the community who were in the mood for a bit of Christmas cheer.

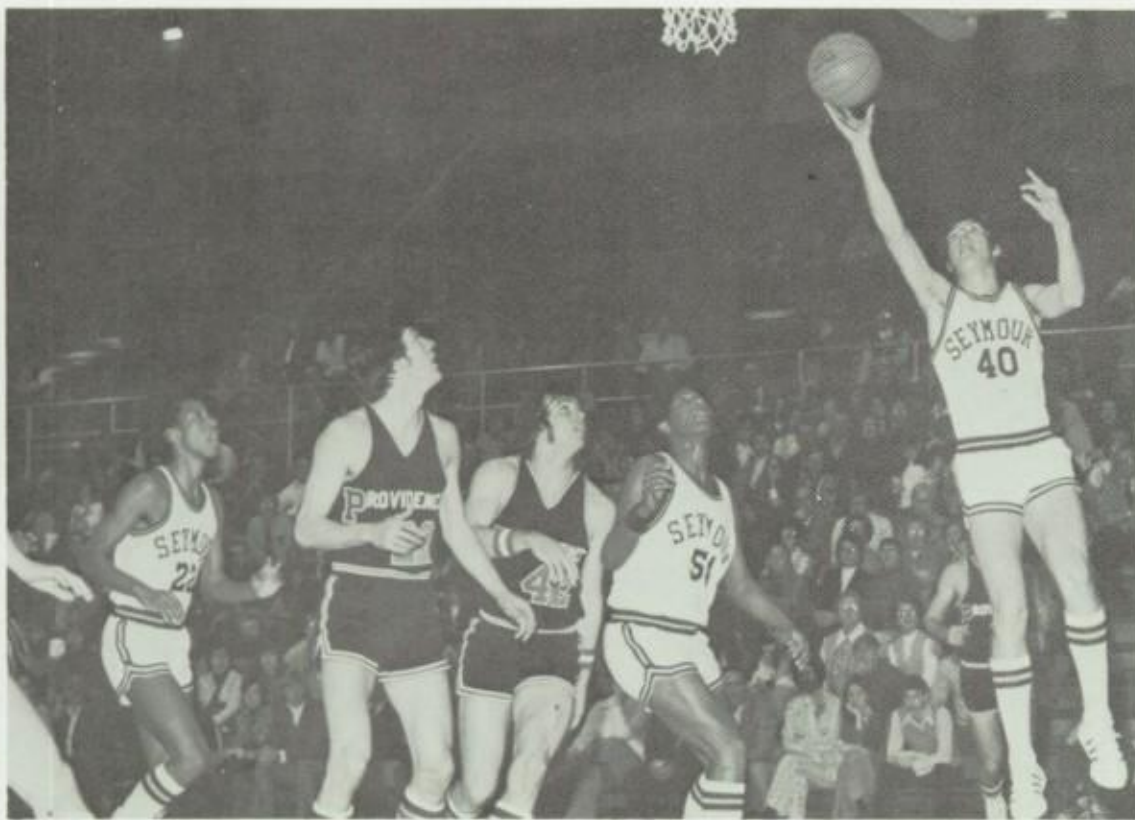

The Advanced and Concert Choirs combine to perform two selections as a finale to the concert.

Holiday TOURNEY

Senior forward Rex Meyer lays the ball up for two points against Providence while other players look helplessly on.

The annual Seymour Holiday Tourney was held on January 4, 1975, with the OWLs playing hosts to Bloomfield, Bloomington North, and Clarksville Providence. In the afternoon session of the tourney, Bloomfield slipped past Bloomington North, 63-61. In the second game of the session, Seymour earned a shot at the championship by breezing past Providence, 86-61.

The championship game was an exciting one for the OWLs. They not only captured the tourney title but also scored 100 points for the first time in the '74-75 season. The OWLs whipped previously undefeated Bloomfield, 100-64, thus adding another championship trophy to the trophy case.

Mid-Year Graduation

Seventy-four SHS seniors ended their high school careers on Sunday, January 26, 1975. This date marked the day for the annual Mid-year Graduation ceremonies at Seymour High School. The ceremony, which began at 8:00 p.m. in the SHS Auditorium, was viewed by many proud parents, relatives, and close friends of the graduates.

As is the custom at SHS, the departing seniors were also honored with a Mid-Year "Senior Dinner" at The Pines.

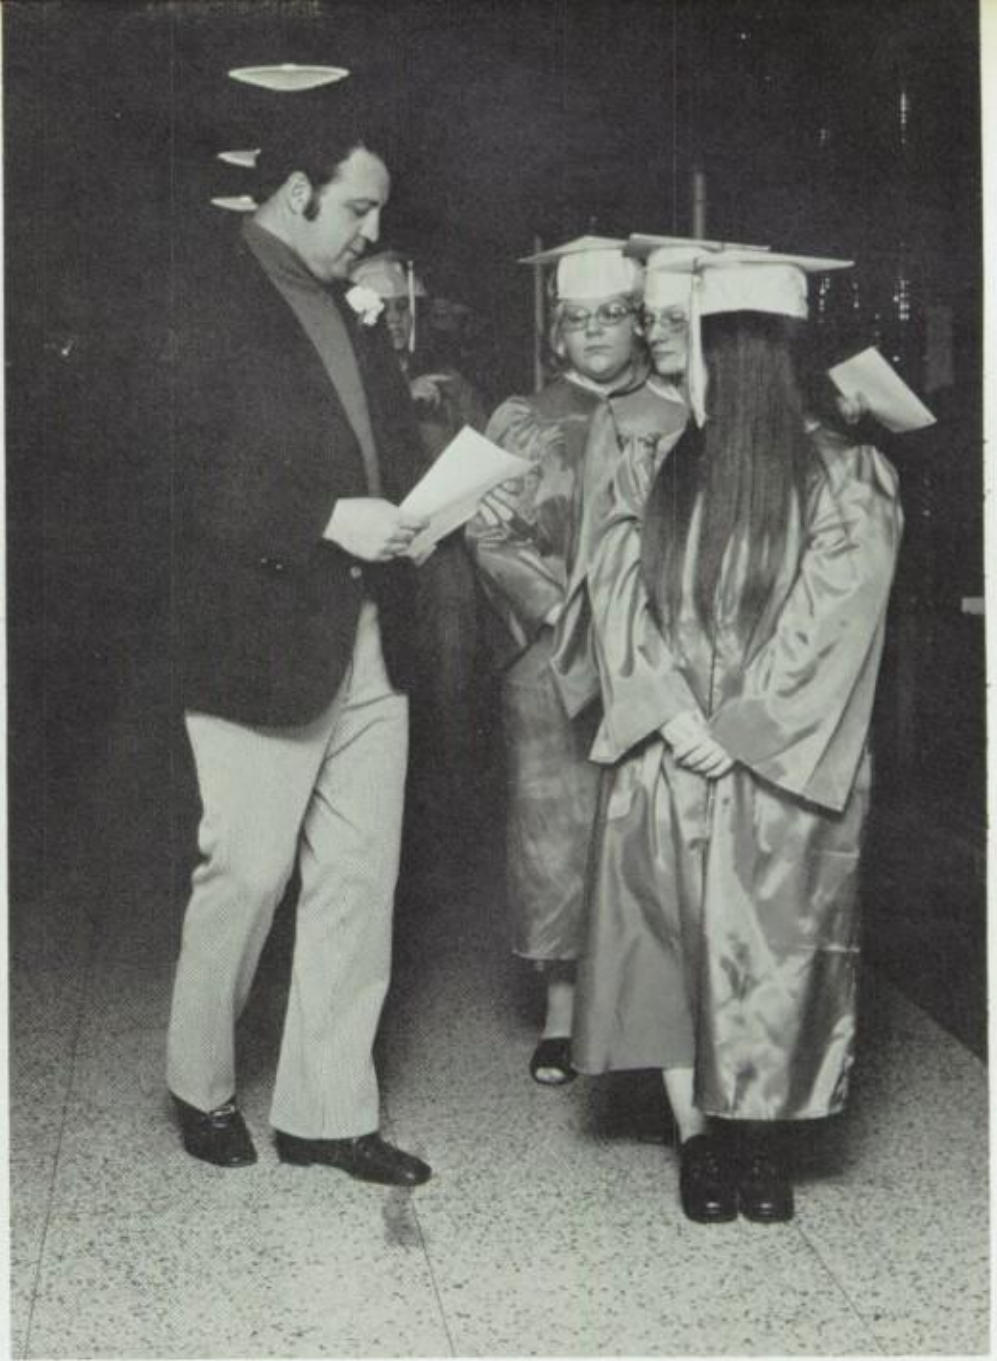

On Mid-year Graduation night, Jim Davis proudly receives his diploma from Oakley Allen, school board member.

Waiting for the ceremony to begin, the students sit in their assigned seats, in the front of the auditorium packed with relatives and friends.

Convocations

During the hectic school year, convocations are scheduled not only to provide something different, but also to provide educational opportunities and a chance for fellow students to display their talents. In the 1974-75 school year, there were four "paid" convocations, two choir convocations, and two Dramatics Class convocations presented to SHS students.

One of the many ways in which the students and faculty can show their school support and spirit to the various SHS teams — both boys' and girls' — is the pep session, easily one of the most exciting and looked-forward-to interruptions in any school day. At these sessions, loyal fans get a chance to yell, sing, chant, and cheer their OWLs on.

Besides the above ingredients, most SHS pep sessions are also filled with comical, often poorly-acted, skits and speeches by the usually shy coaches (!) who always have something to say about their squads.

AND SECTIONAL PEP SESSION

In February of 1975, the Sectional Pep Session was moved from the cramped auditorium to the spacious gymnasium. In recent years, each class had had a wall of the auditorium to decorate, but this year, the students hung their signs on every available space on the north side of the gym.

The selection of the King and Queen and Court was changed too. The Pep Club took over the sponsorship from the PATRIOT Staff and decided that two boys and two girls would be selected from each class, with the top two vote-getters reigning as 1975 Sectional King and Queen. At the beginning of the pep session, seniors Carol Haskett and Gregg Sciarra were crowned by OWL co-captain Jeff Laupus. The court "ruled" over the remainder of the pep session as 1400 SHS students showed their support for THEIR team, the OWLS, who were eventual Sectional Champs in '75.

C. C. Invitational

Seymour runner Bob Houglan paces himself while following Ozzie Smith from Madison.

Under unusually clear skies, the varsity cross country team placed fifth out of thirteen teams in the 20th Annual Cross Country Invitational. Bob Houglan was the first Seymour runner to finish the race, coming in second.

The reserve team's group efforts paid off as they finished third out of seven teams, being beaten only by Jeffersonville and Columbus North. Doug Montgomery was the individual winner of the reserve race, being Seymour's only runner to place first during the day.

And the freshmen placed sixth out of eleven teams in their first invitational. Shawn Sunbury gave an impressive performance as he placed third out of seventy runners.

ABOVE: Reserve cross-country runner Doug Montgomery finishes first in the reserve race. Medals and ribbons were passed out at the completion of the final race. RIGHT: Bob Houglan receives a medal for his second-place finish from Mr. Knight.

Track Invitational

The OWLs' track team placed second in the 15th Annual Seymour Track Invitational, finishing ten points behind Bloomington North. Other schools invited to compete were: Columbus East, Bedford North-Lawrence, Providence, Madison, Martinsville, and Jennings County.

The meet was not dampened by the OWLs' finish, for many outstanding individual performances were turned in. Also, in 1975, girls' teams competed in four events for their own separate trophy. Another highlight was the crowning of the Invitational Queen, junior Sherrie Sunbury, by OWL co-captain Phil Moore.

Winning blue ribbons for the OWLs were Roger Kriete in the 100, Chris Klaes in the 220, and Bob Hougland in the 880.

"Inherit the Wind"

The SHS Dramatics Class presented the controversial drama "Inherit the Wind" for the public on Thursday evening, January 9, and the following Friday in a convo for Seniors and Juniors. Focusing on the actual trial of J.T. Scopes who taught evolution against state laws, the main scene of the play is the town square where court is held. This is the setting for the verbal battle of two famous attorneys — Henry Drummond (Jon Meyer) for the defense, and Matthew Harrison Brady (Tom Elsner) for the state of Tennessee. The climatic scene — Brady's death in the courtroom — came in the closing moments of the trial when Drummond's client was set free with a $100 fine.

"A Thurber Carnival"

ABOVE: Thurber, portrayed by Jon Meyer, takes a moment to puff on his pipe and recollect his childhood in the monologue "The Night the Bed Fell." LEFT: Newspaperman Peter Williams (Charlie Fettig) questions a "tall tale" told to him by south sea islander D. Darke (Kent Vermillion).

In spite of the public controversy aroused by its first play of the year, "Inherit the Wind," the SHS Dramatics Class chose the late James Thurber's "A Thurber Carnival" as its second-semester production. The "Carnival," presented Thursday evening May 15 for the general public and again the next day at a convocation for freshmen and sophomores, was comprised of fifteen short, humorous skits, some of which were based on actual experiences in Thurber's life.

The appreciative public and student audiences received both performances very well, and the laughs that the skits received termed the production a success.

The pet doctor, played by student director Tom Elsner, gives his professional advice about the ailing horse with antlers in the skit "The Pet Department."

Head Featherette Tina Daniels performs a "dance-twirl" routine to "Rock Movement."

"POPS" Concert

On the evening of April 3, the SHS Band Department magically transformed the gymnasium into a faraway "Mystic Isle" at the annual "Pops" Concert. The transformation was originally scheduled to take place March 14, but was postponed due to heavy snows.

Mr. McGrew directed the Symphonic and Concert Bands and the Campus Owls with the assistance of student teacher Randy Koehler. 1975 was the first year that a soloist appeared at the "Pops" Concert. Mr. Tom W. Polley, a former area resident who now plays semi-professionally, performed three selections with the Campus Owls.

The Featherettes also added to the entertainment by performing several baton and dance routines, making the 1975 "Pops" Concert complete.

Camelot

RIGHT: Finding himself alone, King Arthur (Kim Prout) clenches his fists in frustration as he sings about "how to handle a woman." ABOVE: The old knight Pellinore (Tom Elsner) arrives with wild adventures to tell the people of the enchanted Kingdom of Camelot.

"The rain may never fall till after sundown . . . for there's simply not a more congenial spot . . . than here in Cam-e-lot." Those words filled the air April 11 and 12 after the Advanced Choir's production of Lerner and Lowe's "Camelot." A fantastic performance by Kim Prout as Arthur aroused the audience's heart as the king overcame his boyish indecisiveness and found the strength to let go of the things he loved. Laughter and love came into Arthur's court with the comical Pellinore. Tom Elsner, and Guenevere's (Jane Miller) affair with Lancelot, Scott Bishop, including the song, "If Ever I Would Leave You." Also, excellent supporting roles were played by Kent Vermillion as Mordred, Arthur's evil, illegitimate son, and his accomplice Sandy Emkes as Morgan Le Fey. Woven from a marvelous cast, " . . . it will never be forgot that once there was a spot . . . known as Camelot."

RIGHT: Lancelot (Scott Bishop) has no time for festivities and prefers to discuss his favorite topic — the training program — with King Arthur. BELOW: Guenevere (Jane Miller) joins the people of Camelot in a jubilant celebration of spring.

The Spring Awards Concert on May 1, 1975, was the first highlight of the last month of school. Under the direction of Stephen E. McGrew, both the Concert and Symphonic Bands appeared for an hour-and-a-half program of twelve well-performed selections. The Concert Band performed first with awards being presented as certificates to freshmen and sophomores, and as letters to junior members. After a brief intermission, the Symphonic Band performed with solos given by Dana Thompson on the flute and by Mr. William Benton from Indiana State University on the oboe. The main event of the evening was the John Phillip Sousa Award for the outstanding Senior bandsperson being presented to Debbie Copple by Mr. Joe Bevers on behalf of the Lions Club. Also honored were freshmen and sophomores with certificates, juniors with letters, and seniors with keys. Merit awards of monogrammed pen sets were given to senior officers Chris Klaes, Rick Grant, Debbie Copple, Elise Stevens, Tina Daniels, and Kent Heavin. Last, but not least, the senior members presented Mr. McGrew with a metal wall sculpture of a bandstand in appreciation of four profitable years under his direction.

Seated naturally at the piano, Tom Wince who always accompanies the choirs, displays his great ability in a solo of "Ragtime" for which he received a standing ovation.

"A Spring Song"

"A Spring Song" filled the air when the Seymour High School Choral Department honored the outgoing 1975 Seniors on Thursday evening, May 8, 1975. The evening began with the Girls' Glee Club, followed by the showmanship of the Swing Choir. Then, the Concert Choir appeared performing a combination of popular and concert selections. Following the Concert Choir was entertainment by Tom Wince in the piano version of "Ragtime." The Advanced Choir had a hard act to follow as mistress of ceremonies Sandy Emkes said, but the favorite selections from the past six musicals — "Carousel," "Fiddler on the Roof," "The Sound of Music," "Brigadoon," "Oliver," and "Camelot" — were definitely the highlights of the evening. The Advanced Choir's portion of the program also included the talents of Scott Bishop, Kim Guffey, Joe Meyer, Jane Miller, and Kim Prout as soloists. Finally, the evening ended with the combined number by the Concert and Advanced Choir of the moving selection "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Also drawing to a close was another year for the SHS Choral Department under the direction of Mr. Earl D. Prout, and with student instruction by Mr. Kenneth Greenhouse, who is studying at Indiana University.

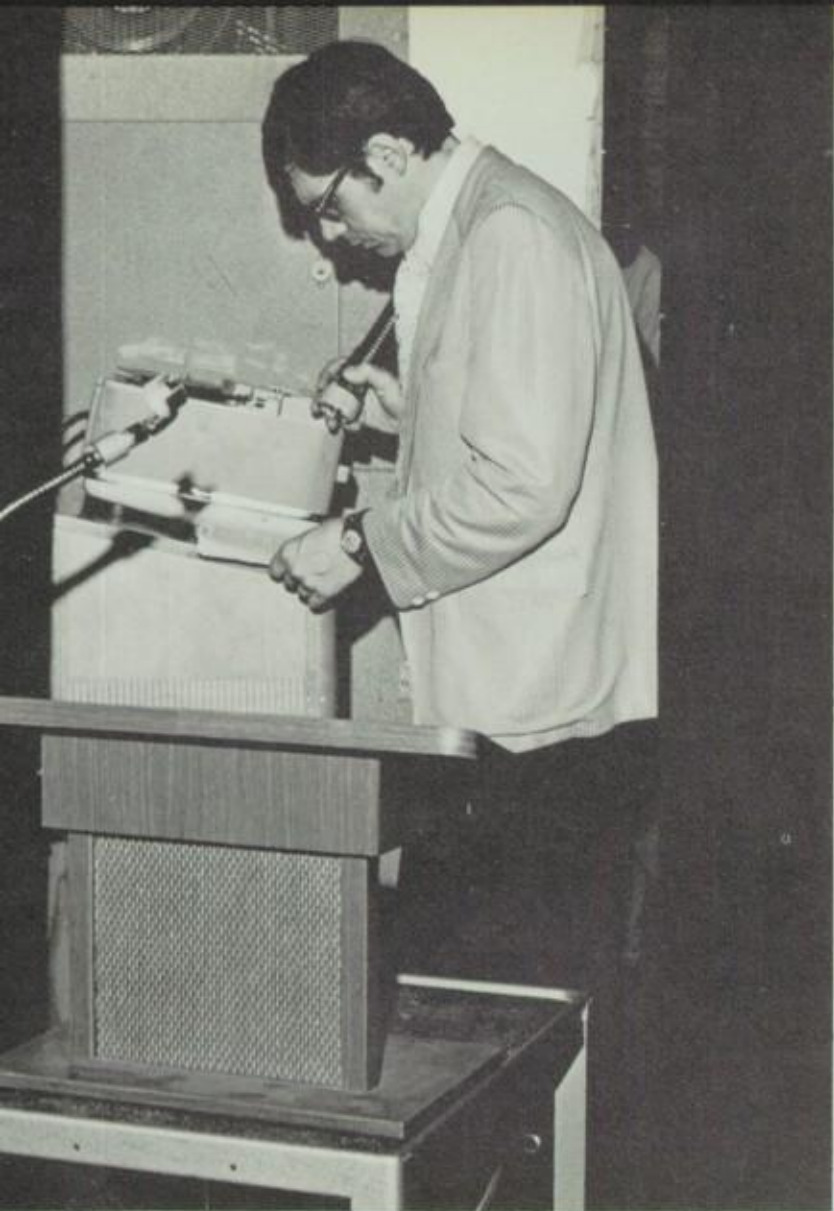

"The Miracle Worker"

Mr. Brantley Blythe directed the 1975 juniors in the presentation of "The Miracle Worker" by William Gibson. The play was presented on March 21, 1975, in the Seymour High School Auditorium. The cast's outstanding performance received a standing ovation from one of the largest crowds to attend a class play in recent years.

"Over the Rainbow"

Couples enter the northeast doors of the gym into Dorothy's "barnyard."

On the hectic Friday decorating, juniors add to the realism of the Cowardly Lion's forest by planting real-live trees.

Juniors and Seniors attending the 1975 Prom followed the yellow-brick road over the rainbow into the mystical, magical land of Oz.

Led by co-chairwomen Beth Adams and Amy Alexander, the Class of '76 began to tackle the difficult task of transforming the gym into a storybook land in early April. Their task was completed on May 23.

As prom-goers entered, they walked through a farmyard complete with live farm animals, through Dorothy's bedroom, across a white garden bridge, and into the land "over the rainbow." They were greeted by mannequins adorned as "Dorothy" and the "good witch." The walls were completely covered with clever drawings of "Oz" characters, with one wall covered by a huge rainbow and the theme.

Completing the theme, the sophomore servers were dressed as "munchkins" and served cake, cookies, and a lot of punch on the warm and humid evening.

Prom Queen

Mike Emkes and Colleen Doolan smile happily after being crowned 1975 Prom King and Prom Queen.

Chosen for the 1975 Prom Queen candidates were five pretty girls who were nominated by the boys in the junior class. Also, for the first time in SHS history, the junior girls nominated five handsome guys to be candidates for Prom King. After all couples entering the Prom had voted, Mike Emkes and Colleen Doolan were crowned to reign as King and Queen of the 1975 Junior and Senior Prom.

1975 PROM QUEEN AND COURT: Susan Holle, Susan Blish, Colleen Doolan, Queen; Jana Hackman, and Amy Alexander.

Couples made many trips to the snack bar during the hot and humid evening at the National Guard Armory.

After-Prom

"Acapulco Holiday 1975" was the theme of the 1975 After-Prom held at the National Guard Armory. Guests entered "Hernando's Hideaway" after being on the "Owl Airline."

Mexican food was served along with the American favorites, hot dogs and cokes, while Free Reign provided the entertainment. Small door prizes were also awarded at different intervals during the evening with a portable TV won by Senior Carol Haskett at the end.

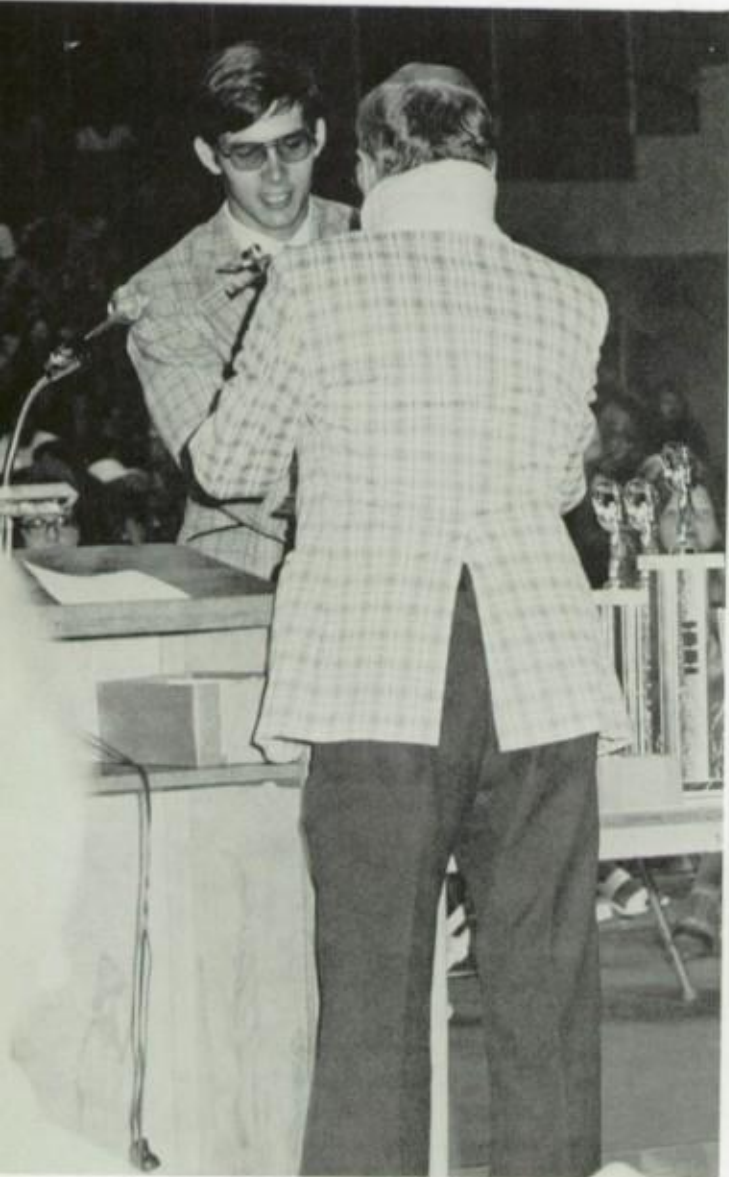

After-Prom-goers dance under the giant sombrero which dominated the decorations in the huge room.

The 48th Honor Day program on Thursday, May 22, 1975, opened with the seniors' traditional march into the SHS fieldhouse. Honors were awarded in three categories: scholastic, special, and activity. The biggest surprises came with special awards from local businesses and organizations, with over $54,000 being awarded to SHS seniors. Among the largest scholarships presented were Susan Aufenberg's award of $1200 from Tri Kappa, Carol Haskett's scholarship of $1600 from the Seymour High School Alumni Association, and Scot Sunbury's $1200 scholarship from the Indianapolis Star Carrier competition. Seventy-three seniors, over twice as many as the previous year, received state scholarships, either honorary or financial. Three of the top awards — outstanding senior boy, outstanding senior girl, and outstanding athlete — were presented to Jeff Laupus, Sandy Emkes, and junior Bo McDougal, respectively. Other awards such as certificates, charms, keys, trophies, and plaques were awarded to students who worked hard donating their time to the school and students who earned high grades in the different departments of study at Seymour High School.

The Commencealaureate ceremonies for the 245 Seniors of the Class of '75 were held in the gymnasium on May 25. Kim Prout, a Senior member of the Student Council, welcomed the crowd to the 102nd Graduation before the invocation by Rev. Ronald Mueller of Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Following addresses by co-valedictorians Julie Patrick and Becky Steltenpohl, the Advanced Choir sang three stirring numbers, including the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," with the Symphonic Band.

The 1974 Varsity Football OWLs ended their season with a disappointing one win against nine losses. Inexperience at the varsity level was the main problem, according to Head Coach Joe Goodman. This year's all-new coaching staff — Head Coach Goodman, Line Coach and Defensive Coordinator Chris Cameron, and Defensive Back and Speciality Coach James Ruster — worked hard to rebuild the young OWL team which consisted of only nine seniors, several of whom had no previous experience on the varsity level. Another damaging blow to the OWLs was the loss of senior Gregg Sciarra. Gregg suffered a broken leg during an August practice which caused him to miss the entire season.

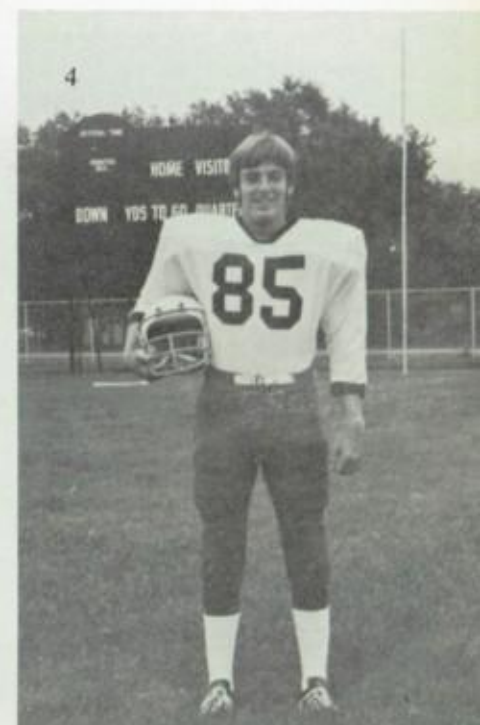

On the brighter side, the young OWLs did indeed progress noticeably. Though the number of wins failed to increase as the season went on, several underclassmen gained varsity experience and showed promise for next year. One such underclassman, junior John Evans, was voted by his teammates to receive the Most Valuable Player Award. Defensive Player of the Year went to senior Jim Wilson. Another award designated by Coach Goodman was the Player of the Day award. This award went to those individuals who the team captains felt worked the hardest during practice each day. Individuals who received this award were juniors Brad Stanfield and John Evans and sophomore Dave Wertz.

Just like their Varsity counterparts, the football Owlets suffered from lack of experience in 1974. The team started off with a bang, shutting out Madison 13-0, but eight dismal losses followed on the heels of that opening victory. But one advantage was that many juniors and sophomores accumulated valuable minutes of playing time under game conditions, to help prepare them for possible future Varsity competition.

Frosh Footballers Post .500 Record

Even though injuries hit key players during the season, the Frosh football team posted the best record at SHS in the fall of 1974, winning three, losing three, and tying one. Mick Hercamp was the stalwart on defense, leading the squad with 40 tackles; Jeff Anderson was close behind with 37. Fullback Anthony Campbell led the offense, piling up important yardage in game after game. Coach Reynolds felt all the boys laid a good foundation for a future in football at SHS.

Varsity Cross Country Has Winning Season

The Varsity Cross Country team completed the 1974 season with a record of six wins, three losses, and one tie. Overall, the OWLs competed against seventy-five teams: winning over fifty, losing to twenty-four, and tying one.

Bob Hougland, the 1974 Most Valuable Runner, placed first in the SCC and became the conference champion for the second straight year. Bob also placed third in the Sectional and advanced to the Regional. Some other honors for Bob were his five first-place finishes in all the dual and triangular meets and his second-place finish in the OWLs' annual Invitational.

The highlight for the season was the OWLs' third-place finish in the Conference. The harriers also finished seventh out of twenty-eight teams in the Sectional and fifth out of the thirteen Varsity teams competing in the Seymour Invitational.

Although Hougland and four other valuable seniors were lost to graduation, Coach Chastain looks forward hopefully to 1975 and another winning record for Seymour High School.

Reserve and Frosh Harriers Complete Successful Seasons

The Reserve Cross Country team finished their 1974 fall season with a fine 5-1 record. Three of the Reserve squad's better runners — Paul Risch, Doug Montgomery, and Paul Smith — also participated in several of the Varsity meets during the season.

The Frosh harriers compiled a season record of two wins and three losses. The young squad took part in five dual meets, the Bloomington Class Cross Country Run, and the annual Columbus Invitational. The ninth-graders also finished sixth out of eleven teams in their own Seymour Invitational.

The highlight of the season for the freshman runners was that Shawn Sunbury set a new record for the two-mile course for a freshman runner.

Girl Volleyballers Finish at 13 and 3

The Varsity girls' volleyball team completed their season in the fall of 1974 with a fine 13 and 3 won-lost record. Included in their impressive string of victories was the championship of the West Washington Sectional. As Sectional champs, the girls came home to host the Seymour Regional. After defeating East Central, they were finally eliminated by tough Bloomington South. At the awards banquet, Becky Hunsucker received the MVP Award.

The girls combined their efforts to win the Bedford Sectional and eventually finish eighth in the IHSAA State Match. Senior Liz Larrison was the Sectional medalist with a 91, and was named Most Valuable Player at the close of the season.

In 1974-75, the Varsity Wrestling team posted an 8-8 record, after a season of ups and downs. In retrospect, the '74-75 season was a rebuilding season for the matmen; these young, determined wrestlers finished 4th in the Seymour Invitational, a disappointing 9th in the South Central Conference, and a rebounding 4th in the IHSAA Sectional.

Following the Sectional, the OWLs advanced four wrestlers to the Regional, but the best that any of them could do there were third-place finishes by Wayne Bosch and Scott Brown.

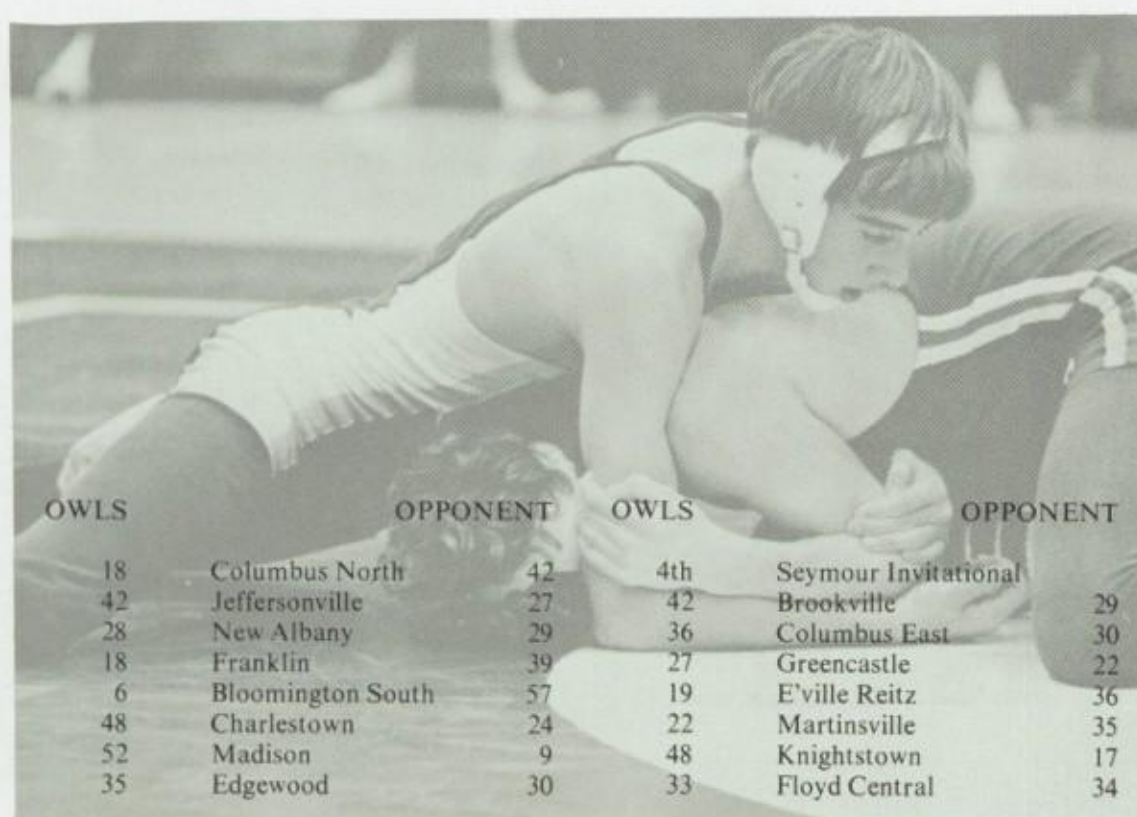

Three matmen won the individual honors on the team: Brian Brock was named the Most Valuable Wrestler; Scott Brown won the "Take-Down" Trophy with 35; and Wayne Bosch received the "Most-Pins" Trophy with 12.

OWL Swimmers

Break Four

School Records

The OWL swim team completed their 1974-75 season with a record of 5 wins and 8 losses. Even though the hard working "Aqua-Owls" did not post a winning season, they combined their efforts to break four school records. Broken were school records in the 200 medley relay, the 200 individual medley, the one meter diving competition, and the 100 butterfly.

The swimmers participated in two invitationals which were held at Connersville and New Albany. Also, they placed seventh and ninth in the SCC and IHSAA Sectional respectively. Coach John Myers was especially proud of the fact that four school records were broken by various OWL swimmers.

Between the semesters of the 1974-75 school year, Coach Kathy Lubker resigned from teaching and coaching, turning over the girls' swim team to Mrs. Marvinna Lewis. Under their two coaches, the team posted a 7-4 record. Through the girls' hard work and team effort, they placed 3rd in the Sectional and broke five school records. The highlight of the season was the seven girls who qualified for the State meet; of these seven, Janet Swain was the only finalist. At the end of the season, Janet was also named the girls' team's Most Valuable Swimmer.

Bills and Tigers Win Intramural Titles

Again, in 1974-75, the SHS Athletic Department organized basketball and mixed volleyball intramurals. In March, the Bills became the 1975 Intramural Basketball Champs in a closely-fought 39-37 win. Joe Thoele and John Weber scored 15 points each, as this final victory enabled the Bills to finish the intramural season with a perfect record.

In early May, the Tigers defeated the Ostriches in a close three-game match for the Mixed Volleyball Championship, winning the decisive third game 15-13. These two intramural programs allow many SHS students to participate in athletics on a limited basis.

S.H.S. Has First Gymnastics Team

The winter of 1974-75 marked the first year ever that Seymour High School has had a gymnastics team. The team, coached by Dan Drummond and made up chiefly of underclassmen, worked hard at learning their new sport and improving their individual skills.

Although the team failed to win any meets, they did finish second in the first triangular meet they'd ever participated in, and Coach Drummond was pleased with the boys' progress.

At the close of the season, special awards went to team captain Matt Tangman, who was voted Most Valuable Gymnast, and Tim Corcoran, who won the Most Improved Gymnast Award.

Seymour High School was well-represented during the '74-75 football and basketball seasons. Rexanne Earley, Karen Pardieck, Cathy Bode, Colleen Doolan, and Cindy Johnson served as spirited goodwill ambassadors for SHS when they traveled to away games and when they welcomed cheerleaders, teams, and fans from visiting schools.

After their election in May of '74, the cheerleaders devoted many hours of hard practice to perfect yells, chants, skits, and mounts. They attended a cheerleading camp in Vincennes during the summer to further improve their skills.

With the help of Miss Sullivan, the cheerleader sponsor, the five girls organized Pep Club, planned pep sessions, and just generally worked hard to raise OWL spirit.

Koral Prout, Shelley Whitcomb, Suzy Baurley, Joyce Hirtzel, and Mary Tracy were chosen in May of 1974 to serve as Reserve Cheerleaders for 1974-75. This was the first cheerleader election in which several representatives from each class along with faculty members were chosen to judge the girls on their co-ordination, ability, voice projection, and poise.

During the summer, the Reserve Cheerleaders attended cheerleading camp at Vincennes University; the girls backed the Reserve football and basketball teams, took part in pep sessions, and practiced many long, hard hours.

Cheerleaders Support Freshmen Teams

The 1974-75 Freshman Cheerleaders were elected under the same system as the Varsity and Reserve Cheerleaders in the fall of 1974. These four girls spent many hours practicing and creating new yells and chants. Although all of this was a new experience for the frosh cheerleaders, they had a successful year yelling for their football and basketball teams.

When scheduling conflicts occurred, the girls occasionally had to lead yells for the frosh basketball teams in the old Shields gym.

Girls' Basketball Teams Post Winning Seasons

Both the girls' varsity basketball team and the reserve team had winning seasons with similar records of 8-7 and 6-5, respectively. Unfortunately for the varsity squad, eventual MVP Carol Haskett injured her knee at the beginning of the season and was able to play in only 6 out of the 15 games. Coach Sullivan, though proud of the varsity and reserve teams this past year, is anticipating next season when the first state girls' state basketball tournament will be held in Indianapolis.

At the Winter Sports banquet, Coach Sullivan announced that Maria Bowman was the recipient of the Most Improved Player Award, and Jean Laupus for the varsity team and Jane Quinn for the reserve team took rebounding honors. But the night belonged to Carol Haskett as she won the MVP Award, the Hustler Award, and received recognition for having the highest scoring percentage in games played.

RIGHT: Senior forward Randy Ude appears to have the upper hand in a rebound battle in the game against Clarksville Providence in the annual Holiday Tourney.

In his first year as head basketball coach, Mickey Beck guided the 1974-75 basketball OWLs to a 21-6 record, Sectional and Regional championships, and a trip to the Evansville Semi-state.

After compiling a regular-season record of 15-5, the OWLs captured the Sectional title by defeating Scottsburg, Crothersville, and Jennings County. In the Regional, the OWLs outbattled New Albany and sweetly avenged the loss to Floyd Central in the 1971 Regional by defeating the Highlanders in the championship game. Then, for the first time since 1970, the OWLs journeyed to Evansville where they defeated new consolidation Gibson Southern in the afternoon contest. Hopes of gaining revenge for the second time failed, however, as the OWLs were finally beaten by Loogootee in the championship game, just as they had been in the final of the 1970 Semi-state.

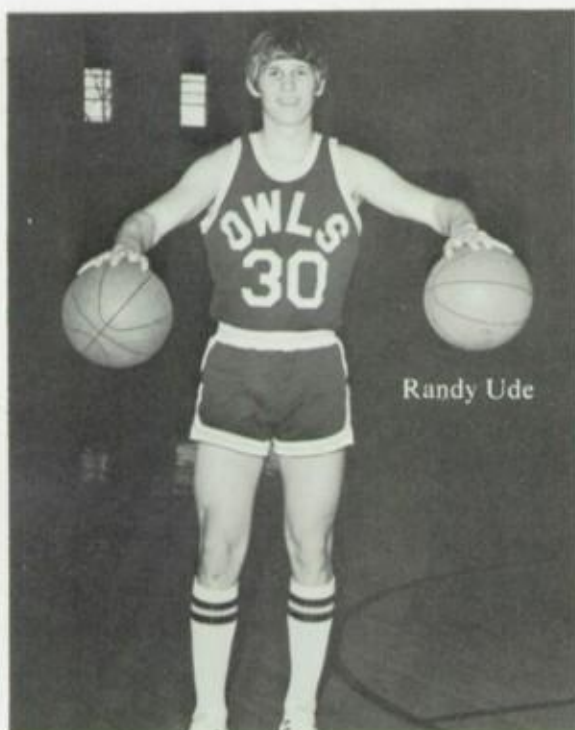

Statistics for the year showed that the OWLs were indeed a well-rounded team. Danny Thomas was the leading scorer and Bo McDougal the leading rebounder. Rex Meyer had the best free throw percentage, and Jeff Laupus led the team in assists. Their fine efforts in tourney play resulted in Danny and Bo being named All-Sectional, All-Regional, and All-Semi-state. Joining them on the All-Sectional team was Rex Meyer and on the All-Semi-state team was guard Gene Thompson. Bo and Danny also made the All-SCC team.

Honors presented at the Winter Sports Banquet included Danny Thomas being named the Most Valuable Player and Rex Meyer receiving the free throw trophy. The coveted 110% award was bestowed on Gene Thompson.

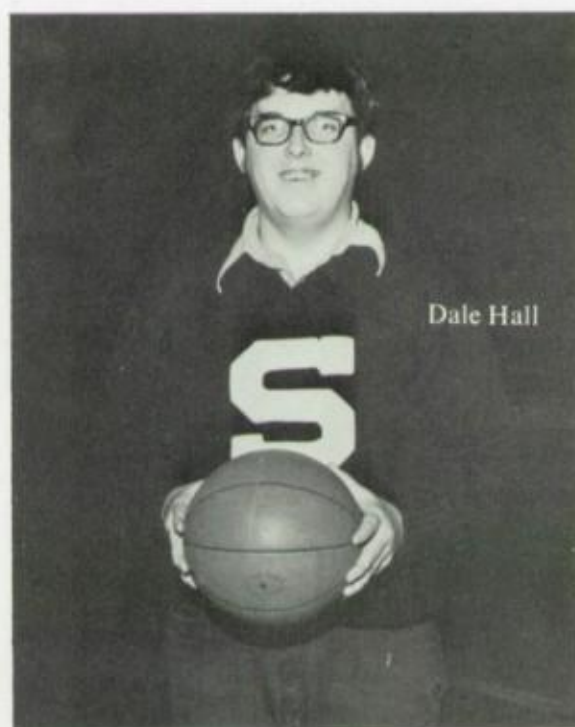

The 1974-75 varsity basketball season could perhaps best be summed up in two words which OWL players, coaches, and fans repeated hundreds of times throughout the season. "We Believe," a phrase coined midway through the season, served as the battle cry for the OWLs down to the final game of the tourney. In 1974-75, the OWL fans believed in their coaches and players, who proved time and again that they believed in themselves.

Advance to Semi-state

The 1974-75 OWLs were the eighth team in Seymour High School history to advance to the Semi-state tournament. The activities began with the traditional parade by the student body through town and were immediately followed by a community pep session. This was the first year for the school to invite the entire community to participate in such a rally. With many spirited and confident fans backing them, the OWLs traveled to Evansville with hopes of gaining the Semi-state crown.

The OWLs defeated Gibson Southern in the afternoon game to gain a position in the evening's final game. In the championship, Loogootee started off hitting their first eight shots from the floor. The OWLs closed to within two points in the second quarter, but could never come even. When Danny Thomas received his fourth foul, the OWLs' rally faltered, and the Lions won 62-47. Even though the elusive Semi-state title slipped from their grasp, the Seymour fans still "BE-LIEVED" the OWLs were the greatest!

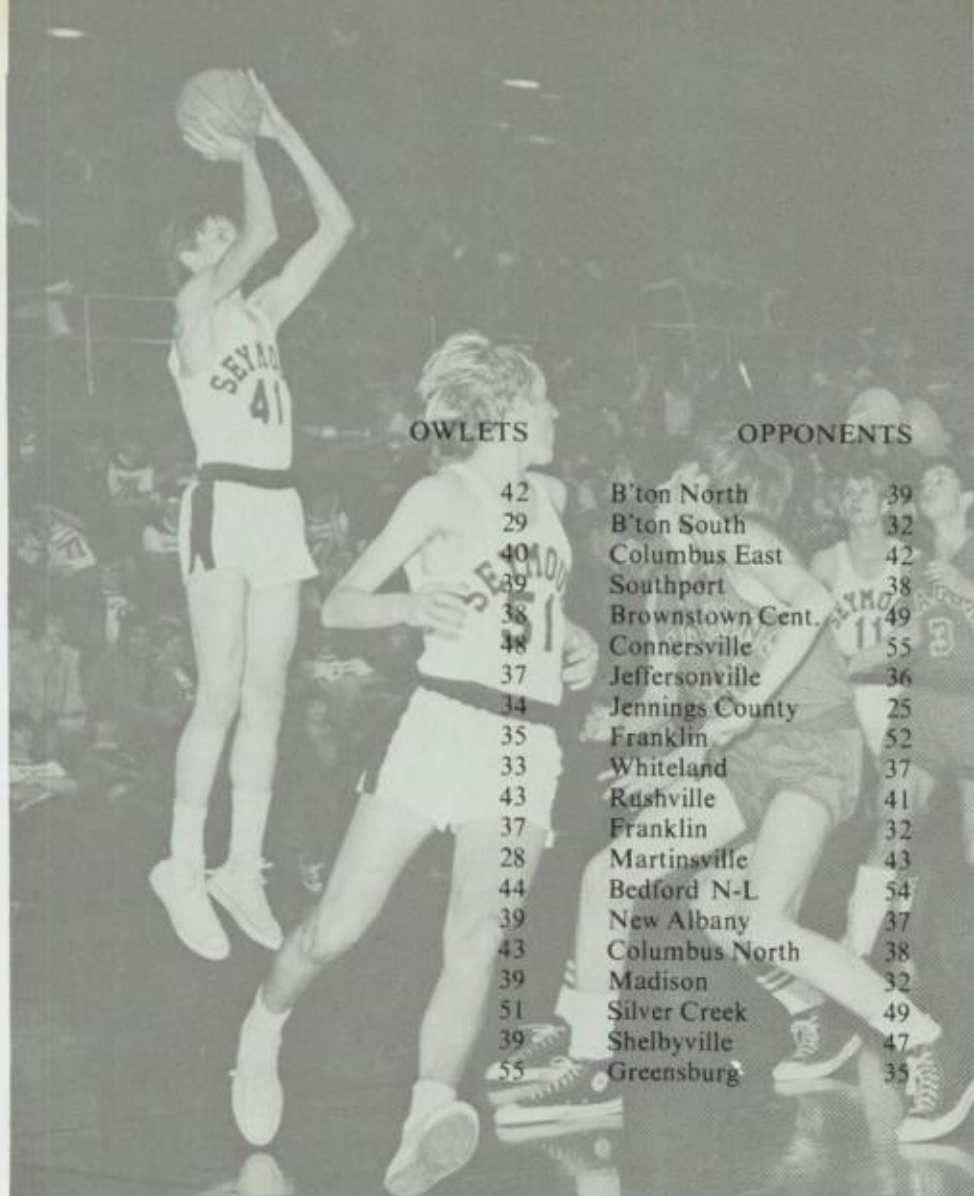

Coach Beck calls a time-out during the hectic third-quarter rally against Gibson Southern in the afternoon game.

Reserves Finish Season With 11 Wins and 9 Losses

Under new coach Jack Walser, the 1974-75 Owlets — a mixture of juniors, sophomores, and one freshman — flirted with a .500 record all season long, finally winning five of their last six games to finish with a respectable 11-9 ledger.

The leading scorer was junior Ed Sutton with an overall total of 156 points, while center Don Trimpe controlled the most rebounds. As has been the custom with the OWLs' teams in the recent past, many of the boys on the Reserve squad also saw limited action in a number of varsity games.

Frosh Basketball Teams End With Winning Seasons

In the 1974-75 basketball season, both the Frosh "Purple" and "White" teams compiled winning records of 9-8 and 11-2, respectively. Forward Sam Miller paced the Purple team in scoring and rebounding while Chris Kleber led in free-throw percentage. Mick Hercamp led the White squad in scoring; other statistics are misleading because most of the boys divided their playing time on one squad or the other as Coaches Cooper and Millington continually shuffled their line-ups to counteract injuries or search for that "right" combination.

Team-wise, the Purple team averaged 44.1 points a game, while the White squad averaged an even-higher 47.5 points-per-game.

OWL Golfers Post Winning Seasons

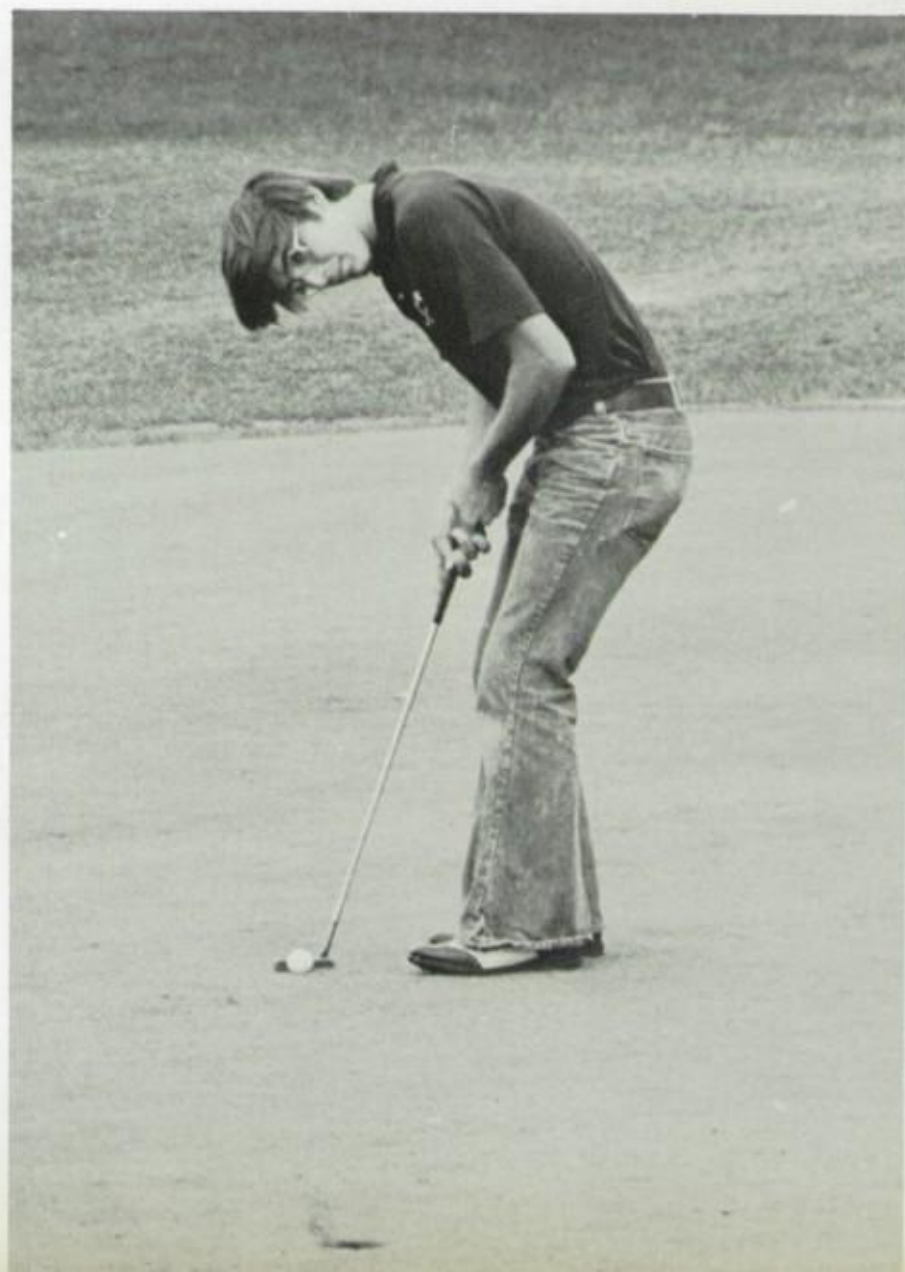

The 1974-75 OWLs Golf Team posted winning seasons in both the fall and spring by compiling 9-3 and 11-4 records respectively. Under the direction of Coach Bob Krietenstein, the OWL linksmen completed a hectic schedule of dual, triangular, and quadrangular meets.

They finished third in the South Central Conference Meet with Rex Meyer shooting the team low of 73.

OWL Netmen Finish Third in S.C.C.

The 1974-75 Varsity Boy's Tennis Team finished its year after compiling a combined 12-10 season record in its fall and spring seasons. Although they failed to do well in Sectional competition, the team placed third in the South Central Conference. Led by number-one singles player Kim Prout, the OWLs also placed fourth in the Bloomington South Singles Tournament. Prout defeated two of the top-ranked players in the state and walked home with the runner-up trophy. For his efforts, Kim was named Most Valuable Player by Coach Keith Masnick.

Girl Netters Post 6-3 Record

Under new coach Marvin Lewis, the 1975 Girls' Tennis Team posted a season record of six wins and three losses, with the only losses coming to strong Clarksville Providence and Columbus North. Carol Haskett and Rexanne Earley played number-one and number-two singles respectively all season long. Carol received the Most Valuable Player trophy and finished as runner-up in the IHSA Sectional, advancing to Regional play. As a team, the girls finished a respectable third in the Sectional out of eleven teams.

The 1975 girls' track season was not so rewarding, record-wise, with only two wins; however, the girls broke nine of the existing SHS records, and the team qualified fourteen girls for the IHSAA Sectional, which was the largest number ever to participate from SHS. At the Spring Sports Banquet, Coach Sullivan presented the Most-Valuable-Runner trophy to sophomore Cindy Williams. Coaches Sullivan and Knight are eagerly looking forward to future track seasons, because of the 62-girl squad, only two were seniors and only two were juniors.

Record-breaking OWL Trackmen Send Five to State Meet

Bill Lasater's first year as head coach of the OWL track team proved to be excellent and record-breaking one. The OWLs posted an impressive 10-2 record in dual and triangular meets; they placed second out of eight teams in their own Invitational and second in the Shelbyville Relays and second in the S.C.C. meet; they were third in the New Albany Relays; and they placed third in the IHSAA Sectional.

Even before Mr. Lasater was announced as head coach, other changes were made. In the late summer of '74, a new rubberized asphalt surface was placed on the oval at Bulleit Stadium, replacing the old cinders.

The Trackettes were also a new addition to the track program in 1975. This group of girls volunteered to help out in judging, timing, helping field events, and serving as "hurdle-girls." All in all, 1975 was a year of new and exciting features for the SHS Track Team.

Discus record-holder Bo McDougal lets go with a toss during the Seymour Invitational.

Besides posting a winning season as a team, the 1975 OWL tracksters also excelled individually. Senior Bob Hougland, chosen MVP for the second straight year, equaled his school record in the 880 with a time of 1:57.8. Hougland advanced to the State Meet after placing third in the Regional. Senior Chris Klaes won the Total-Points trophy for the second straight year too; Klaes also qualified for the State Meet with a fourth-place finish in the 220 in the Regional. Junior Bo McDougal, the S.C.C. record-holder in the discus, also earned a trip to the State. Joining these three were Roger Kriete in the 100-yard dash (Kriete's third trip to the State) and Danny Thomas in the high hurdles.

Two other school records were broken in 1975. Roger Kriete, Joe Eckelman, Paul Zumhingst, and Chris Klaes set a new standard in the 880-relay with a time of 1:31.3. The mile-relay team, made up of Danny Thomas, Carl Risch, Rodger Lewis, and Bob Hougland, also recorded a new record in their event, with a time of 3:28.8.

OWL Baseballers Fall on Hard Times

After a string of consecutive winning seasons in a row, the 1975 OWL baseballers "fell upon hard times." Although there were sparks of success off and on throughout the long season, youth, inexperience, shoddy defense, and mental errors proved to be their downfall. The OWLs won 14 and lost 18, with the high point of the season being the IHSAA Sectional crown, their fifth in the past six years. In the Regional, the OWLs were nipped by Lanesville, the eventual Regional champs.

Senior Randy Ude was the pace-setter in almost every category: he was the leading hitter with an even .300 average; he had an 8-5 record on the mound; he was the lone OWL representative on the All-SCC squad; and naturally, he was chosen MVP at the end of the season. Randy was also named to appear in the first North-South All-Star baseball game in Indiana. At the conclusion of the season, seniors Gregg Sciarra and Brian Brock were elected honorary co-captains by a vote of their teammates.

Superintendent and School Board

Dr. Conrad Galloway
Superintendent of Schools

In 1974-75, Dr. Galloway and the Board of School Trustees spent much of their time planning for the future building of the Margaret R. Brown Elementary School. In addition to overseeing this project, the Board was responsible for the supervision of every other aspect of running the Seymour Community School System. The Board met monthly to attend to these duties. Mr. Donald Davis and Mr. Robert Lamb served on the Board of School Trustees for their first year in 1974-75. They replaced Mr. Ernest and Mrs. Ripley.

Administrative Personnel

The Administrative Personnel had many different duties to perform during the 1974-75 school year. These eight members of the administrative staff were kept very busy serving all of the schools in the Seymour system. Each staff member had certain areas for which he or she was responsible. For example, Mr. Coffey, the newest member of the Administrative Personnel, was the system's PVE (Pre-Vocational Evaluation) Coordinator.

Principal and Assistant Principals

Three very important members of the Seymour High School administrative staff are the principal and the two assistant principals. Mr. Lysko kept busy during his second year as principal. Keeping a school the size of SHS operating smoothly throughout the year required many hours of hard work. Mr. Keyser, in addition to his duties as one of the assistant principals, also acted as Guidance Director. In this capacity, he helped many college-bound students plan for their futures. Mr. Scott also had duties other than those of an assistant principal. As Seymour High School's Athletic Director, he supervised all aspects of the athletic program.

Mr. John Britton

One very important part of the SHS administrative staff is the Guidance Department. Two members of this department, Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Britton, were kept busy with their duties as Dean of Girls and Dean of Boys, respectively. During the 1974-75 school year, much of their time was spent checking attendance, dealing with disciplinary problems, and helping students with both personal and school-related problems. Two other indispensable people in the Guidance Department were Ms. Jones and Mr. Miller. Ms. Jones was occupied with counseling the freshmen during her first year at SHS. Mr. Miller was kept busy helping students plan for their vocations.

With the growing concern for physical fitness, physical education became a product of the high SHS standards. The up-to-date and well-kept facilities helped students obtain the best in physical education and enjoyment from a variety of activities.

Driver's Education Dept.

Because a driver's license is a popular acquisition for every teenager in America, Driver's Education remained one of the most popular SHS courses. Mr. Dittmer and Mr. Chastain suffered through all the head-jerking stops and starts to produce courteous, well-trained young drivers.

A globe is on the desk in front of the seated man.

Mathematics, at times, seemed almost like a foreign language to many of us. It has been called, quite appropriately, "the language of science." Here at SHS, mathematics has given us help in many areas: from understanding space-exploration and our own chemistry classes to doing the grocery shopping.

Industrial Arts Dept.

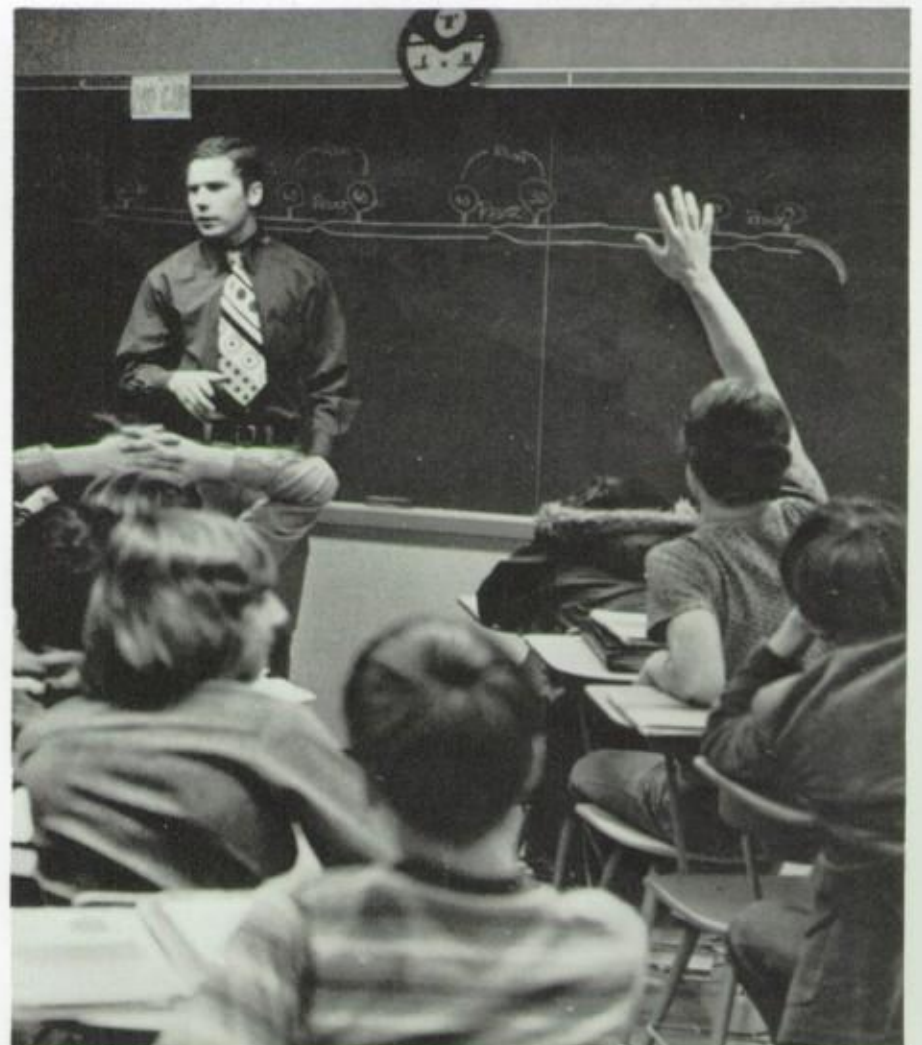

In the mid-1970's as emphasis slowly shifted from a college-preparatory education to more practical vocational training, the Industrial Arts Department at SHS began to play a bigger part in students' lives. More and more boys — as well as girls — decided that offerings like auto mechanics, power shop, electricity, welding, and building trades would help prepare them for some phase of a vocation in industry.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPT.: SEATED: Don Wright, Jeff Reagin, Jim Brock. STANDING: Harman Thomas, Jon Stahl, Charles Horton.

ABOVE: There is a freer atmosphere in Mr. Horton's mechanical drawing class as students move up to his desk to ask for individual help. RIGHT: With the aid of his diagram on the board, Mr. Stahl leads a discussion on voltage drops in comparable circuits in one of his electricity classes.

AGRICULTURE DEPT.: Nelson Lewis

Agriculture Dept.

The Agriculture Department offered not only "in-class" training but gave the students a chance to work on the school-owned farm at Freeman Field. In the "Related Occupations" course, students were able to hold down a farm-oriented job and earn school credits at the same time, thus applying the knowledge that they'd gained in SHS agriculture courses.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPT.: Lucy Sullivan, Judy Sutton, Norma McQuinn.

Home Economics Dept.

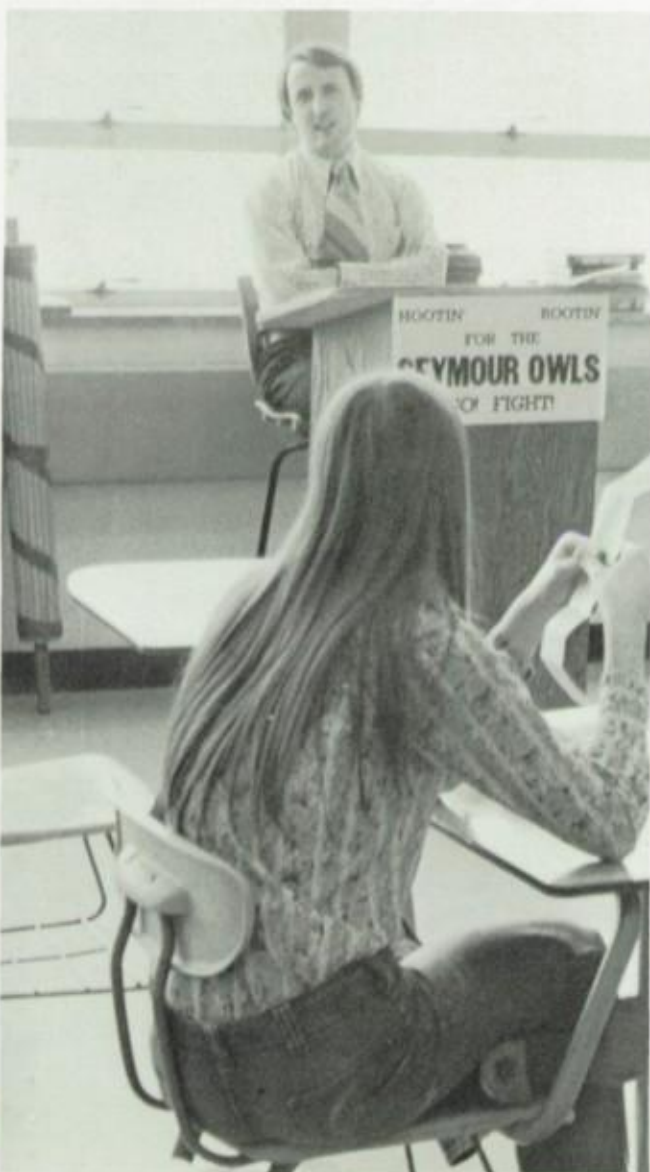

The Home Economics Department at SHS covered more than just cooking and sewing. Courses like "Marriage and Family," "Personality and Social Adjustment," and "Buyer Education" provided girls with a broad background from which they could draw on in the future.

Foreign Language Dept.

'Way back in 1903, all SHS students had to take four years of German and one year of Latin. Foreign language requirements have relaxed since those earlier days, but many modern SHS students still add Latin, German, Spanish, or French to their curriculum — most of them to satisfy college-entrance requirements. At SHS, the Foreign Language Dept. offers all of the modern equipment in language-learning: tapes, filmstrips, and daily usage of the language being studied.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPT.: Parvin Lambertus, John Glezen, Julia Miller, and Jon Gueder.

ABOVE: Mr. Gueder starts off the period by sending his Spanish students to the board to write their translations of assigned sentences. LEFT: Mr. Glezen comments on a newspaper clipping brought in by a Latin student as the class discusses words that have come from Latin and Greek derivations.

Fine Arts Dept.

FINE ARTS DEPT. (MUSIC): Earl Prout and Stephen McGrew.

The Fine Arts Dept. of SHS includes both the music department and the art department. Besides educating their hundreds of students, these two departments are also the most often in the public's eye.

Throughout the year, art students' displays can be seen in many display cases around the SHS buildings, and special displays are usually set up in the auditorium lobby during the production of plays and musicals. Of course, the SHS bands and choirs are known throughout the Hoosier state for their concerts, musicals, and convocations.

Mrs. Reynolds uses samples on the board as she leads her students in a discussion about the rules in printing many reproductions of their creations. RIGHT: Mr. McGrew swings his baton during Symphonic Band rehearsal in the music wing.

FINE ARTS DEPT. (ART): Diana Reynolds, Robert Bowman, Don Hill, and Charles Hunterman.

Language Arts Dept.

LANGUAGE ARTS DEPT.: SEATED: Hubert Rohrer. STANDING: Marguerite Scott, Betty Skelton, Chris Weaver, Debbie Ralston, Marcia Schneck.

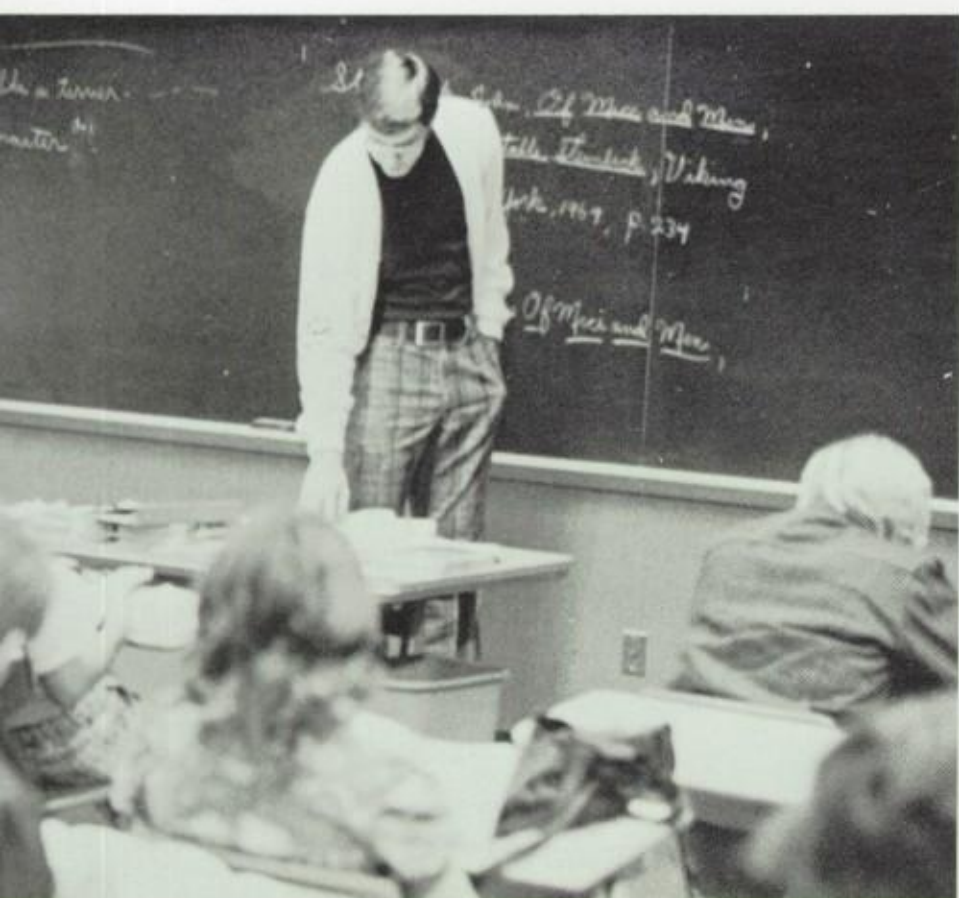

Mr. Rohrer pauses to answer a question from Cathy Wagner concerning her lay-out in the latest issue of the "Owl."

In 1974-75, "phase electives" were in their second year in the Language Arts Department. Classes such as "Man and Nature," "Youth as Hero," and the "Comic Spirit" proved to be very popular among SHS students as more and more of them took to this new way of building their own English curriculum.

In late winter, the department's faculty members began holding meetings to add even more elective choices to the list of English subjects that the students could choose — thereby strengthening the "phase electives" even more.

RIGHT: LANGUAGE ARTS DEPT.: Don Millington, Virginia Moats, Department Chairman Brantley Blythe, Debbie Kolb, Clint McCord, and John Lewis. (Don't ask us what the gun has to do with the picture!)

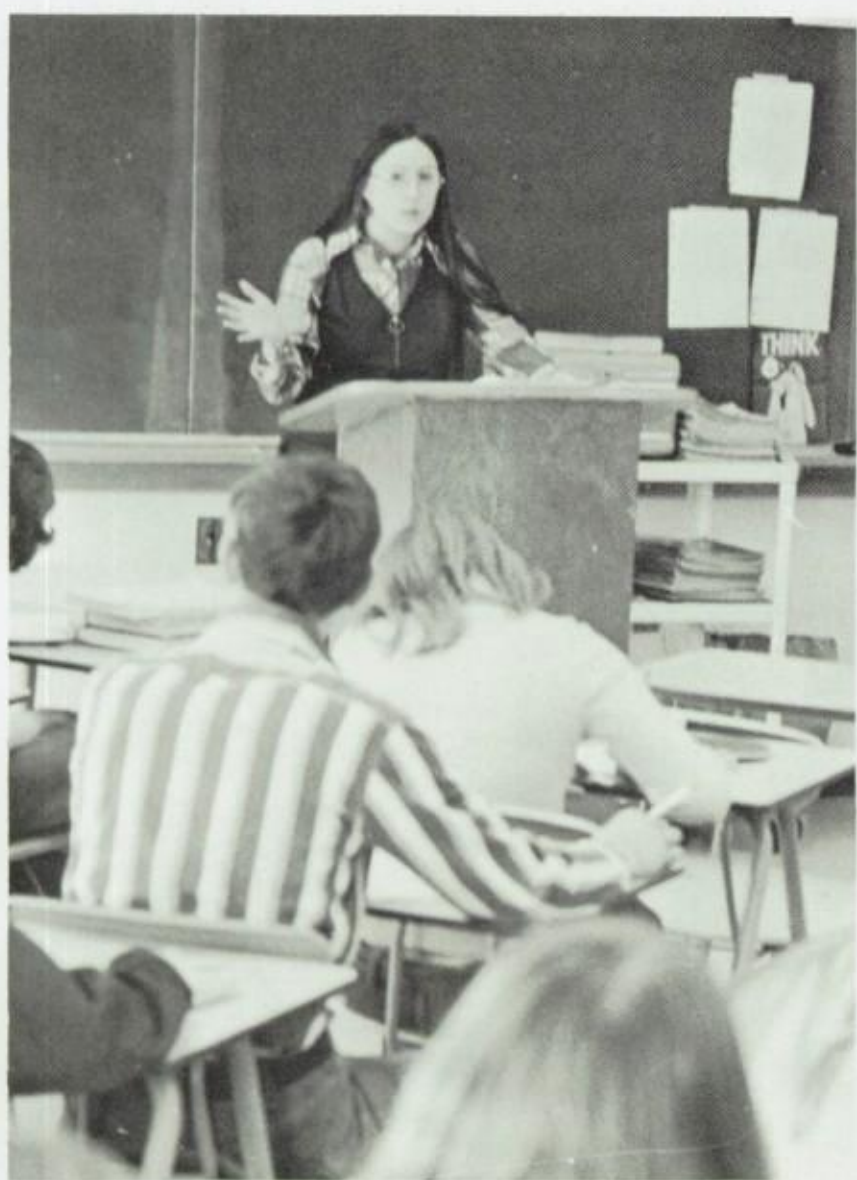

Consulting his textbook on his desk, Mr. Millington makes the next day's grammar assignment for his class.

In the relative quiet after 3:30, Mrs. Ralston takes time out to go through some of the journals that her students compile.

ABOVE: Using her hand to gesture, Mrs. Weaver asks the next question in the "pop quiz" her students are taking. RIGHT: Using the cafeteria so his class can hold group discussions, Mr. McCord pauses to answer a question from Jill Clark, which Scott Brown insists she's asked because she knew the photographer was in the room!

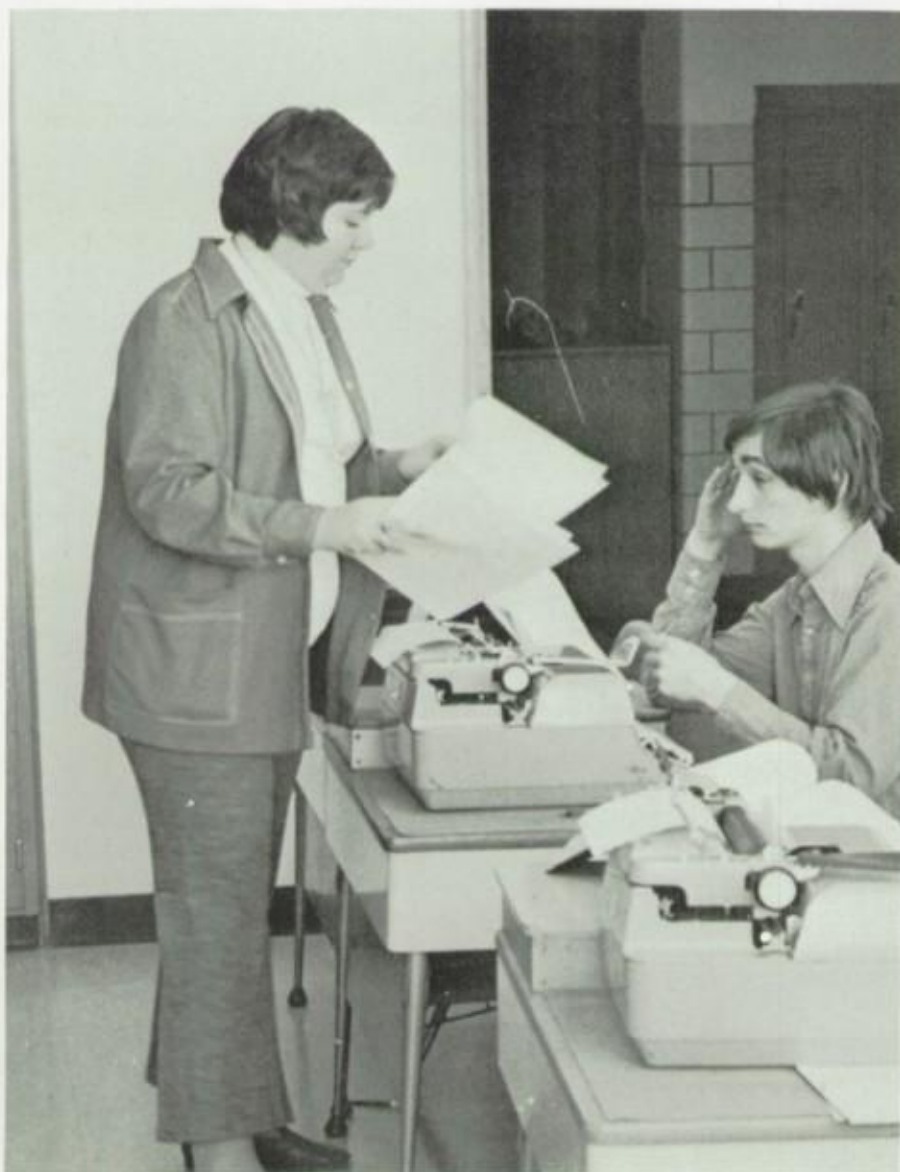

Business Dept.

BUSINESS DEPT.: SEATED: Marvin Dyer, Larry Cooper. STANDING: Doris Hoevener, Anna Knight, Janice McKinley, Harlan Dringenburg.

"Practice makes perfect" would be a perfect motto for the SHS Business Department. Passing down the halls of the second floor of "B" wing, a visitor could hear the clicking of typewriters or the rustling of paper on any given day in the 1974-75 school year. Business law, shorthand, accounting, office practice, and general business were among the business courses offered to SHS students. In these classes, valuable skills were learned by both college-bound students and those students intending to enter the business world.

Study Hall Monitors

STUDY HALL MONITORS: Marylyn Leavitt and Lois Clevenger.

Secretaries

SECRETARIES AND TREASURER: Joan Heavin, Linda Marsh, Lucille Williams and Sue Blythe.

Tutors

Three groups of women were valuable assets to the success of an SHS school day. Mrs. Leavitt and Mrs. Clevenger, new to SHS, maintained discipline in the large study halls, providing a quiet place for students to work. Mrs. Heavin served as secretary to the Deans while Mrs. Marsh was the principal's secretary. Mrs. Williams was the school treasurer and also managed the bookstore. Mrs. Blythe served as secretary to both Mr. Scott and Mr. Miller. Also new in 1975 were the three tutors, who gave of their time to help students needing more personalized instruction.

TUTORS: Martha McIntire, Rebecca Nichter, and Dottie Snider.

Cooks and Custodians

Mrs. Susan Holstine, Dietitian
Seymour Community Schools

Each school morning the cooks came early in order to prepare well-balanced meals for the students and faculty. Even though they faced the continuing problem of fewer government-subsidized foods, plate and a la carte lunches were offered at fairly reasonable prices.

Anyone who takes care of housekeeping chores at home greatly appreciated SHS's custodians. During the bustling school day or in the solitude of the evening, the janitors maintained our facilities in the SHS tradition.

GYMNASIUM AND POOL CUSTODIANS: Robert Dingess, Gerald Haversperger, Robert Gallion.

Spending much of their time working in the cafeteria office are cooks Dorothy East and Jean Auffenberg.

LEFT: "300" BUILDING CUSTODIANS: Woody Hunter and Bertha Boofer. ABOVE: DAY AND NIGHT CUSTODIANS IN THE MAIN BUILDING: Mode Thompson, Jacob Schlatterer, Harley Hill, Farrell Boofer.

Freshmen

Found Roving Our Seymour High halls were the Class of 1978. After the first few days of jammed lockers, dropped books, and mixed-up room assignments, the freshmen settled down to the '74-75 school year. Besides their studies, the freshmen became involved in elections, sports, band, choir, and clubs. Yes, the Class of '78 made a deep impression on SHS in their first year of high school life.

Class of '78

For the first time, the once-flustered freshmen became upperclassmen. The sophomores were familiar with the use of the voting machine for electing class officers in the fall since they were no longer new to the school. Proud of their position, the sophomores were excited by the arrival of their class keys in late January and looked forward to the day when they would order their class rings. In the meantime, they began to discover who they were and what their interests were after taking the Kuder Preference Test, traditional for sophomores in the state of Indiana.

Seniors

The juniors of 1974-75 found their eleventh-grade year to be a very hectic one indeed. One of the many extra-curricular activities that kept them so busy was sports. Increasingly, many junior girls, as well as boys, participated in sports on both the varsity and reserve levels. Many juniors spent long, hard hours preparing for the Junior Class Play, "The Miracle Worker." This difficult play was presented successfully on March 21, 1975. Three weekends later, many talented juniors participated in the Advanced Choir's production of "Camelot." Next, the really hectic period of preparing for the Prom began. All of the juniors' hard work paid off, though, when the night of the big event finally came. With the excitement of the hectic junior year almost over, the Class of '76 began to anticipate the even-more hectic senior year.

SENIORS

For the seniors, the PATRIOT's one-hundredth year had a very special meaning. It was the last of four wonderful years that most of the seniors had spent together as a class. During the first part of the year, all thoughts of graduation, whether sad or happy, were pushed aside by the many activities that the seniors participated in. Sports, clubs, band and choir presentations, magazine sales, and preparing for college were just a few of these activities. One of the highlights was going to the basketball Semi-State for the first time since 1970.

As May 25 drew near, the seniors kept busy preparing for final exams, Honor Day, the Senior Dinner, and Commencealaureate. Although graduating ended one phase in the lives of the seniors, the year of the 100th PATRIOT also marked the beginning of another.

Even such is Time, which takes in trust
Our youth, our joys, and all we have,
And pays us but with age and dust;
Who in the dark and silent grave,
When we have wandered all our ways,
Shuts up the story of our days:
And from which earth, and grave, and dust,
The Lord shall raise me up I trust.

— Sir Walter Raleigh

Senior Committees

SENIOR DINNER COMMITTEE Rick Grant, Doris Otte, Sandy Emkes, Becky Hunsucker, Mr. Harlan Dringenburg, Linda Spieker, Debbie Schroer, Cheri Shearer, Melame Gertz, Debbie McNear.

SENIOR STEERING COMMITTEE: SEATED: Teresa Moorman, Ellen Scott, Liz Larrison, Janet Swain, Danny Thomas, Kris Percival. STANDING: Scott Sunbury, Kent Heavin, Mark Spray, Brian Brock, David Zarick, Kim Prout, Rexanne Earley, Paul Zumhingst, Jon Robertson, Mr. Lambertus.

Each year several seniors are chosen to serve on senior committees. The two committees formed in 1974-75 were the Senior Dinner Committee and the Senior Steering Committee. The Senior Dinner Committee made and carried out all of the plans for the very successful Senior Smorgasbord. The smorgasbord was held at The Pines on May 22, 1975. Because of the large number of seniors participating, two dinners were held, one at 5:45 and one at 7:15. The theme of the dinner was "We've Only Just Begun," and entertainment was provided by the Campus Owls and the Swing Choir.

The Senior Steering Committee was in charge of the plans for Commencealaureate. This group of students, along with Mr. Lambertus, chose "Enter the Young" as the theme for program. The committee members were also responsible for decorating the gymnasium.

"Owl" Staffs

Throughout the 1974-75 school year, the Seymour "Owl" staffs capably served the student body of SHS. Keeping students informed of happenings around the school, recognizing accomplishments of students, and providing entertainment were services that the journalism classes provided by publishing the "Owl". Under the guidance of Mr. Hubert Rohrer, the "odd" and "even" staffs put out twenty-seven issues of the paper. Mr. Rohrer was assisted in this undertaking by the editors-in-chief, Jane Borcharding and Merrilee Hill.

Typing articles, as Jo Fox does here, was just one step in publishing the school newspaper.

"ODD" OWL STAFF EDITORS: Janet Hall, Laura Tangeman, Melody Waltz, LuAnn Scott, Liz Larrison, Cathy Ray, Jane Borcharding, Cathy Wagner.

The PATRIOT STAFF

The 1975 PATRIOT Staff was named on Honor Day in 1974. Throughout the summer of 1974, the staff sold booster ads to help ease the yearbook budget. In fall, staff members learned the basics in yearbooking: how to write copy and captions, crop pictures, and lay out pages. Four times during the year, the staff held sales periods at which students could purchase yearbooks. In the spring, unused candid pictures went on sale. With a year of hard work behind them, the PATRIOT Staff successfully completed its last deadline in May, with books being distributed in August.

Students who have a sincere interest in photography and are interested in improving their photographic skills are eligible to join the SHS Photo Club. In 1974-75, the club held regular meetings during the school year in which members talked about cameras, developing techniques, and other topics related to the art of photography. Members of the club also attended a meeting of the Muscatatuck Photo Club to listen to professionals further discuss photographic skills and techniques.

French Club

FRENCH CLUB OFFICERS: Sandy Emkes, president; Shelley Whitcomb, vice-president; Merrilee Hill, secretary; Dana Thompson, treasurer.

"Le Cercle Francais" (The French Club) held regular meetings during the 1974-75 school year. During these meetings, plans were made to travel to the Art Museum in Indianapolis in February. While there, the members viewed French art and the art of other cultures. The highlight of the year was a banquet held in the Home Economics rooms. Members made and brought their own French dishes. This banquet was a brand-new feature of the club, under the sponsorship of Miss Julia Miller, SHS French teacher.

Spanish Clubs

Spanish Club I was made up of first-year Spanish students and was sponsored by Mrs. Debbie Ralston. The club attended a Caribbean dinner at Indiana University and held their own party with a Spanish theme in the spring.

Mr. Jon Geuder sponsored Spanish Club II, which was made up of interested students who had taken two or more years of Spanish. The members kept busy at their meetings making plans for a trip to Mexico, which was open to any students taking Spanish. After the school year, thirty-four SHS Spanish students traveled by bus to Mexico for a six-day stay.

Although each club acted independently of the other, they shared the same motto: "El que habla dos lenguas vale dos hombres." Translated, this means: "He who speaks two languages is worth two men."

SPQR

During the 1974-75 school year, the SPQR was one of the busiest clubs at Seymour High School. In the fall, a Halloween party was held for the enjoyment of club members. Later in the year, SPQR members worked many long hours building a float for the Christmas parade. As in the past, the SPQR took charge of the coat checks at basketball games in order to finance the club's activities. Several times, the SPQR met the German students in volleyball matches. Spring brought two very important events, the club's annual Roman Banquet and the Indiana Junior Classical League convention at Ball State University. On Honor Day, the SPQR awarded a scholarship to two outstanding senior club members.

Hi-Y

"Clean Speech, Clean Sports, Clean Living," was the motto for the HI-Y Club as they met regularly during the school year. This year the club hung a good sportsmanship flag in the gym and also laid plans for a student loan company for book rentals. As in 1973, the club members also donated time and money for the Oktoberfest.

HI-Y OFFICERS: Dennis Cottingham, chaplain; Joe Elkins, secretary-treasurer; Brian Brock, president; (NOT PICTURED: David Zarick, vice-president.)

TRI-HI-Y

During the 1974-75 school year, the Tri-Hi-Y members were involved in a number of projects: these included making tray favors for nursing homes and for the Pediatrics Ward at the local hospital. As a new club feature in 1975, the girls also gave a gift certificate to the Outstanding Senior Girl and to the Outstanding Tri-Hi-Y member. The club held a party in the spring to top off the year's projects.

Business Club

The Seymour High School Business Club is composed of juniors and seniors who plan to gain a major in business. Since the club is a co-operative organization for the improvement of office work efficiency, in 1974-75, tours were taken of the Telephone Company, Seymour National Bank, and Cummins. Also, members were informed of job opportunities by guest speakers. During the year, a skating party was held for all club members.

ART CLUB

To provide interested students an opportunity to learn more about the field of art through activities, demonstrations, and discussions is the purpose of Seymour High School's Art Club. For example, in the 1974-75 school year during Open House, art demonstrations and techniques were exhibited by club members. At Christmas time, members painted a large "MERRY CHRISTMAS" greeting which was displayed on the pool deck.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Bell and Mr. Chastain, gives those students taking chemistry or physics an opportunity to further their science interests and participate in various projects and discussions. In 1974-75, the club members subscribed to a science magazine and went on a field trip to a Holset Corporation Plant. The students toured the plant and observed the manufacturing process of diesel engine turbochargers.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB OFFICERS: Larry Beal, vice-president; Steve Bobb, president; Tim Montgomery, secretary-treasurer; Tim Schepman, sergeant-at-arms.

Industrial Arts Club

The Industrial Arts Club is open to those interested students maintaining a "C" average or better in Industrial Arts courses. In the fall, the club members donated enough turkeys, canned goods, and other foods to fill Thanksgiving baskets to give to six needy families. The idea of such charitable gifts was carried over from the previous year when the club donated their dues to the local Red Cross for the April 3rd tornado victims. Mr. Brock, Mr. Horton, and Mr. Wright were sponsors for the club.

Future Farmers of America

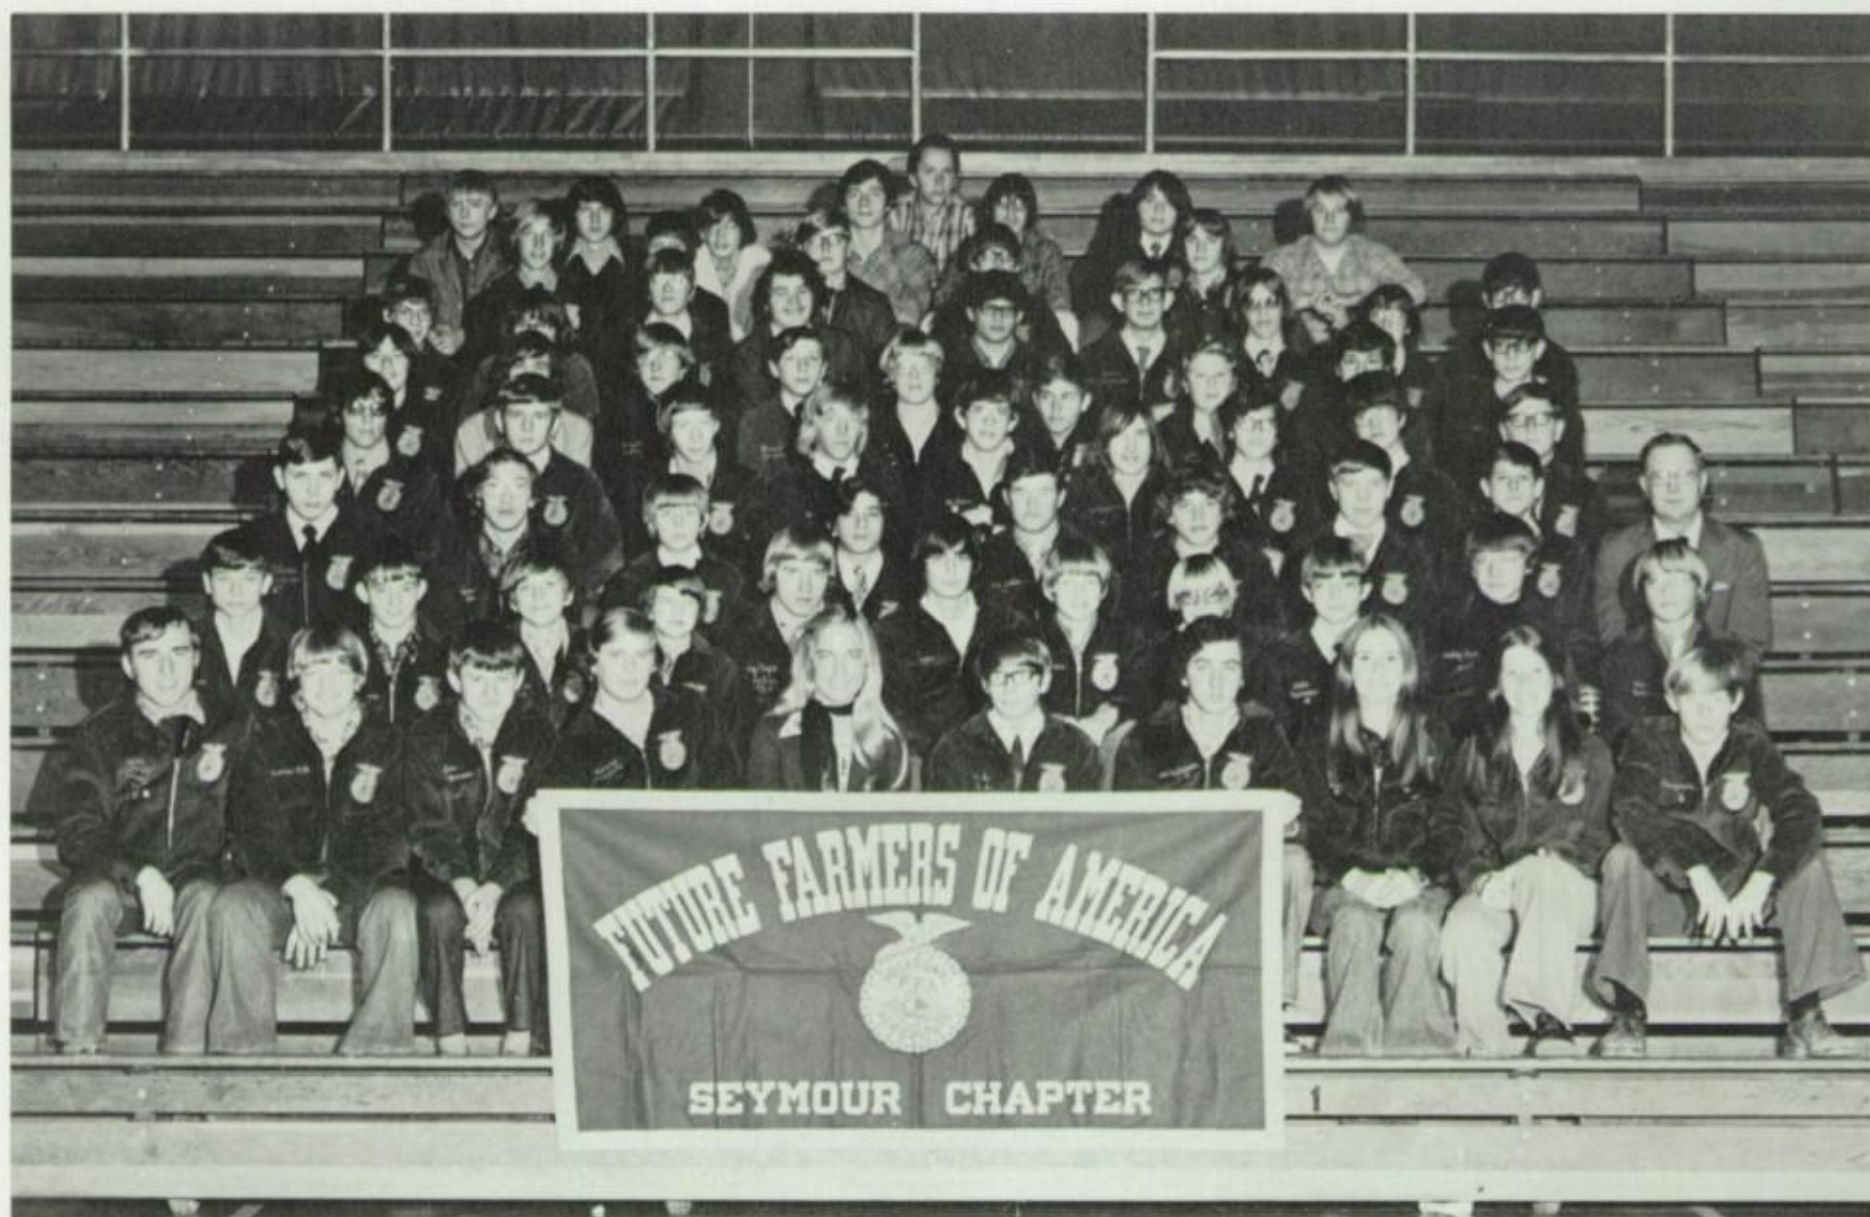

The primary aim of the SHS Future Farmers of America was to develop leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. They accomplished their goals with a very busy, active year in 1974-75.

To start things off in the fall, the Future Farmers sold concessions during the varsity home football games. Also, they held initiation for new members in November.

During the winter months, FFA went together with FHA and sponsored two skating parties. In February, they attended the National Farm Machinery Show in Louisville. National FFA Week was also in February. The Future Farmers celebrated with a party for the teachers, serving cherry delight and coffee.

To add to these activities, the FFA'ers sold garden seeds in January through March. One of their final activities was a banquet in April.

The club made several achievements during the year, including the State FFA Championship in the Funk's International 304 Challenge Corn Production Contest. The Future Farmers of America certainly lived up to their motto: "Learning to Do, Doing to Learn; Earning to Live, Living to Serve."

The Future Homemakers of America was one of the busiest clubs at SHS during the 1974-75 school year. Some of their activities included initiating new members, making centerpieces for a local nursing home, sponsoring a Christmas party for the Sunshine School, Christmas caroling, co-sponsoring skating parties with the FFA, sending Valentine's Day cards to the Sunshine School, sponsoring a St. Patrick's Day party for a local nursing home, and honoring senior members and installing next year's officers at a dinner in May.

The purpose of FHA is to help youth assume their roles in society through home economics education in areas of personal growth, family life, vocational preparation, and community involvement. SHS's FHA achieved its purpose through its many activities during the 1975-75 school year.

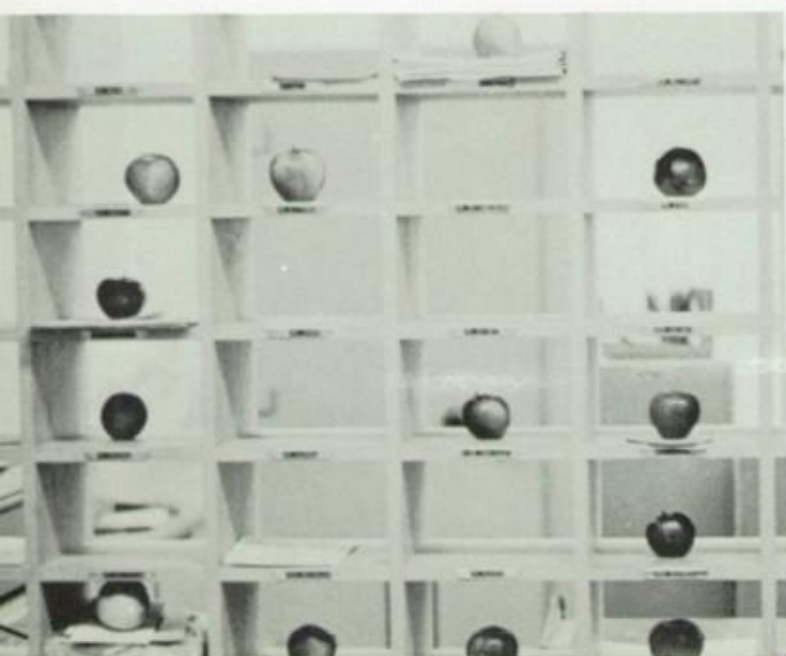

SHS's football coach Joe Goodman makes the Christmas season a little merrier for children who attend the local Sunshine School by playing Santa at their FHA-sponsored Christmas party.

Throughout the 1974-75 school year, the Future Teachers of America kept busy with a variety of activities. In the fall, FTA members helped at Open House by registering guests and serving as guides. In recognition of American Education Week, the club gave a party for the SHS faculty and also placed apples in the teachers' mailboxes. April brought the annual FTA Book Fair, and May followed with a club picnic.

The 1974-75 FTA year was highlighted by two major events. One of these was the FTA tutoring program for senior club members. This program gave members a chance to get some actual classroom experience. A second highlight of the year was the Christmas float built by FTA members. The float, with a theme of "Toyland," won a first place trophy in the annual Jaycees' Christmas parade.

Librarian's Club

LIBRARIAN'S CLUB OFFICERS: Tammi Walters, vice-president; Cheryl Hanlon, president; Anna Combs, secretary; Brenda Webster, treasurer.

In 1974-75, a new club for Seymour High School was the Librarian's Club, a revival of the old Library Club of years ago. Interested SHS students joined together to promote the exchange of ideas and experiences in being a librarian.

Under Mrs. Skelton, the members worked in the library: making displays, maintaining our own school library, and attending the Indiana Media Student Association Conference.

One of the duties of the Club was to create displays for the Library's book-case. Here, Anita Tolliver puts the final touches on one about the library's being the "answer-place."

The Seymour High School Speech and Debate Club of the 1974-75 school year was a first in the school's history. Students interested in developing their communication abilities in the areas of speech and debate were encouraged to join by the new SHS faculty sponsor, Mrs. Chris Weaver.

The SHS Speech and Debate Club entered fourteen tournaments during the year, in which many members won blue ribbons. A spring banquet was held honoring the members, and four seniors — Becky Steltenpohl, Dennis Cottingham, Steve Doboze, and Eric Raymer — were recognized for outstanding performances in speech and debate.

Thespians

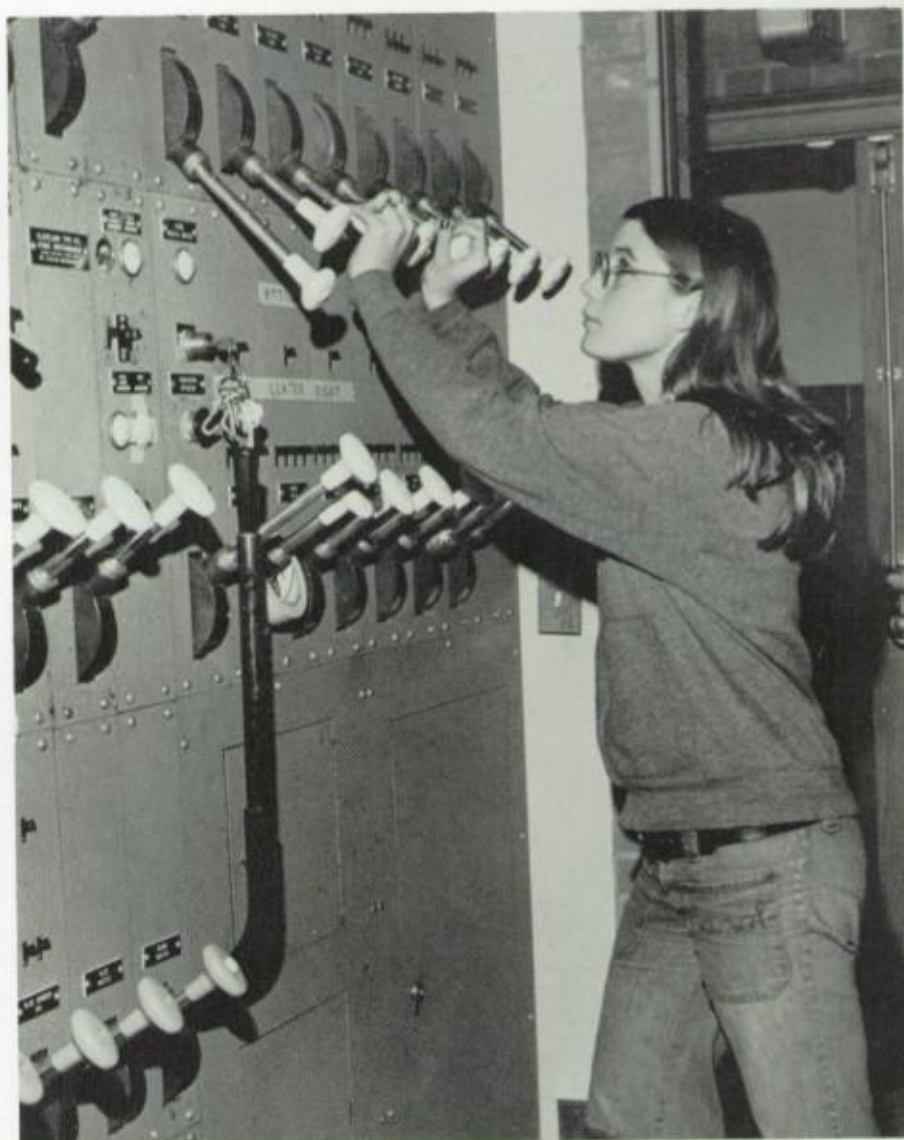

In 1974-75, the International Thespian Troupe 3053 of SHS consisted of approximately 25 members. As in the past, students who earned enough points by working in dramatics and who were recommended by one of the club's sponsors were invited to join the Troupe. In May, a formal initiation was held for new Thespian members. At Honor Day, the Troupe sponsored trophies for "Best Actor" and "Best Actress."

Dramatics Club

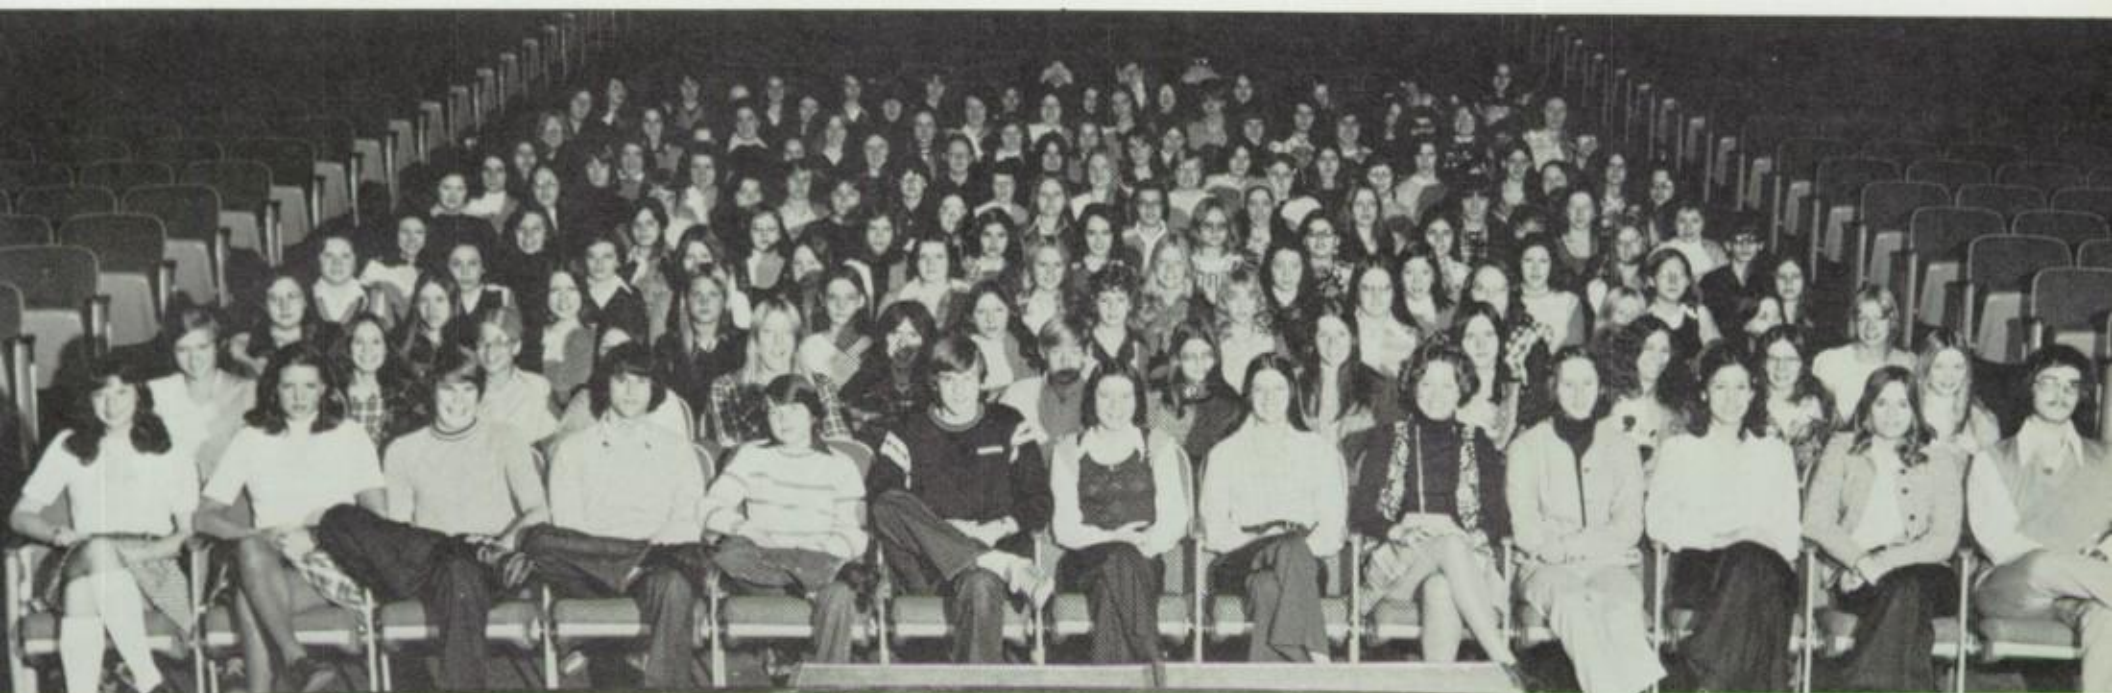

The SHS Dramatics Club of 1974-75 was one of the largest clubs at Seymour High School with a membership of approximately 250 students. Under the direction of Mrs. Deborah Ralston, Mr. Brantley Blythe, and Mrs. Chris Weaver, the Dramatics Club presented an excellent performance of "The Whole Darn Shooting Match" on December 14, 1974. For the entertainment of the entire club, class skits were given by members at the club meetings. In the spring, the Dramatics Club took a trip to Actors' Theatre in Louisville, Kentucky, to view a professional production.

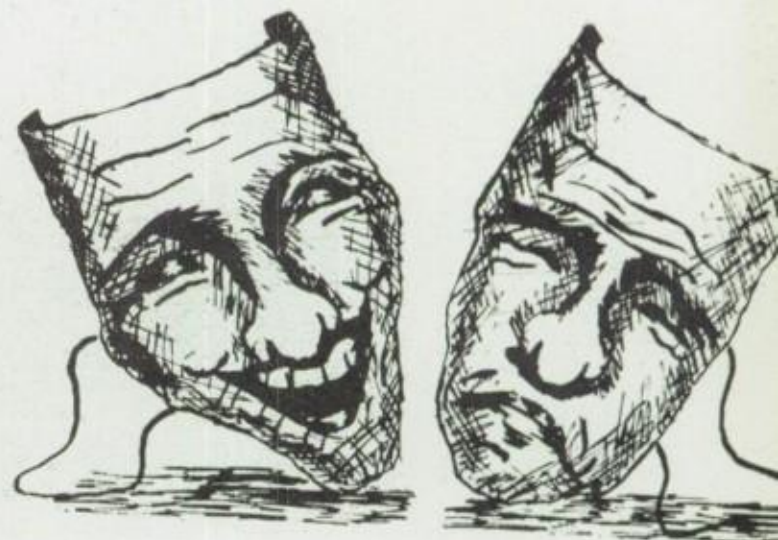

Club Member Carol Niemeyer works the backstage lights during the Dramatics Club play, "The Whole Darn Shooting Match."

The Marching Owls play "God Bless America" during the dedication of the B & O Underpass.

The SHS Marching Owls began preparation for their busy season early in August. The bandsmen practiced every night on the west athletic field under the direction of Mr. Stephen McGrew until the weekend before school started. They perfected their routines and performed in the pre-game and half-time shows of each home football game. In addition to this busy school schedule, the Marching Owls performed in the V-J Day Parade, Oktoberfest Parade, Halloween Parade, and Christmas Parade for the community, and the dedication ceremonies for the B & O Underpass. They also traveled to Hanover to perform in one of the half-time programs for that college's Homecoming.

After marching season, the 160-piece Marching Owls divided into the Concert and Symphonic Bands. Both performed at the Winter, Pops, and Spring Awards Concerts, and the Concert Band represented Seymour at the I.S.M.A. Contest at Madison. In addition, the Symphonic Band completed its annual tour, presenting convocations to several high schools throughout the state.

Select members of the Symphonic Band who comprise the Campus Owls and German Band entertained at the Pops Concert and at Seymour's Oktoberfest. The Pep Band, another volunteer group, provided music at basketball games and pep sessions.

One highlight of the year for Seymour Bandsmen was that for the first time in seven years, our Department of Bands also hosted the 33rd Annual Good Neighbor Band Festival. The best musicians from seven different schools joined to form one mass 130-piece ensemble. After having only one full day to rehearse, the mass band upheld the Seymour Band tradition by presenting a varied and enjoyable concert.

In 1974-75, over 75 student assistants sacrificed study halls to help keep things operating smoothly at Seymour High School. To cite a few examples of how these students gave assistance, they checked out library books, cleared off lunch trays, answered telephones, and ran errands for faculty and personnel. Most certainly, the student assistants made necessary contributions in the everyday happenings at SHS.

The Student Council began the year by sponsoring the Homecoming queen election and ended by sponsoring the Seymour Invitational queen election. They took part in the muscular dystrophy drive and the collecting of gifts from the Christmas stockings put up by the "OWL" staffs during the holidays. They represented SHS when they attended the judge's conference in Brownstown, served as guides for the College Night speakers and the students at eighth grade orientation, and traveled to Greensburg and Jeffersonville when they exchanged council members. The council is sponsored by Mr. Miller and Ms. Jones. For the first time in at least eight years, there was a female president and co-sponsor.

Lettermen's Club

As tradition, the 1974-75 Lettermen's Club again sold basketball schedule pens in November. Later in the school year, for the enjoyment of the entire club, a field trip was taken to watch the Indiana Racers in a World Hockey League game.

For their special project during the year, the Lettermen's Club presented the athletic department with three new all-sports record boards for the gymnasium. The club also presented a $100 scholarship on Honor Day.

John Britton, Jim Deputy, and Gordon Reynolds served as sponsors for the 1974-75 Lettermen's Club.

A large group of energetic SHS girls gave some of their spare time to the Varsity and Reserve Wrestling teams during the 1974-75 school year by being Mat Maids at every home match. Their job called for being timers, scorers, runners, and announcers. The girls were also able to give the wrestlers valuable support just by being there watching and cheering.

Traci Freeman, Nan Krumme, Rexanne Earley, and Colleen Doolan pay close attention to a wrestling match as they keep score and run the clock.

Diamondettes

In their third year of existence, the Diamondettes were still working hard at all home Varsity, Reserve, and Freshman baseball games. Their duties included working at the concessions stand, announcing, chasing foul balls, cleaning up, and running the scoreboard. The girls were also in charge of bats, selling tickets, keeping charts, and passing out programs.

Sophomore Jan Wilcox walks off the diamond after returning a foul ball to the umpire.

In an autumn speedball game on the west athletic field, sophomore Sue Miller jumps to throw a pass over a leaping defender.

The purpose of the Girls' Athletic Association, GAA, is to give girls an opportunity to participate on an intramural level. In the fall, they started their year of activities with a bike ride to Cortland and back. Throughout the 1974-75 school year, they were active in speedball, volleyball, gymnastics, badminton, Ping-pong, bowling, basketball, softball, and swimming. They also sold concessions at many sporting events.

The members held their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet in the spring where awards were presented to members according to the number of activity points the girls had accumulated. Trophies were awarded to the Outstanding Senior Girl and to the girl with the most sportsmanship.

Boys' Cheerblock

Throughout the 1974-75 basketball season, over one hundred boys not participating on the OWL varsity or reserve teams joined together in the Boys' Cheerblock to voice their support for the OWLs. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Stahl and Mr. Britton, the boys voted to make themselves "uniform" again this year. They chose navy blue and white T-shirts with "Seymour" and the year of the boy's graduation on the front of the shirt.

The Cheerblock also had the prestigious duty of helping to arouse OWL spirit by pushing the giant "Sammy" out on the floor before each home game.

The 1974-75 Pep Club was kept very busy during the school year by cheering at all home football and basketball games. This year, purple and white reversible capes were the uniforms chosen and worn by the girls; at a few games, a large "S" was formed with the white capes against a background of purple capes. The Pep Club Council held regular meetings to make decisions concerning the whole club. The girls on the council engineered most of the pep sessions during the school year — making up skits, emceeing, and presenting small gifts of appreciation to the boys on the different teams during pep sessions to show them the Club's support.

A century passes in the mist of tears and laughter,
And all of the tomorrows are faced with crossed fingers,
But it is the todays which hold
all of the treasurers,
For memories of yesterday
And promises of tomorrow
Are what make living today so complete.

The 1974-75 PATRIOT staff had a challenging job this past school year as we tried to create the mood of today laced with the shadow of SHS one hundred years ago, when the first PATRIOT was published.

Of course, the most important aspect of the book was that of capturing the ups and downs, exciting times and boring days, and triumphs and defeats during the past school year. However, as this was the 100th birthday of the PATRIOT, we especially tried to depict situations "then" as well as "now."

Hopefully, this book has rekindled old feelings and memories. And that is what the staff hoped to have accomplished.

The PATRIOT staff would like to thank all of those people who aided us in our struggle to complete the book. And a special thanks to Mr. John Lewis, our advisor, for without his continual patience, understanding, and guidance, this book could not have been published.

1975 Boosters

Despite inflationary times, many boosters found ways to financially support the 1975 "Patriot." Only through such boosters do many SHS activities, including the "Patriot," achieve the quality that they do. Therefore, the 1975 "Patriot" staff sincerely thanks and greatly appreciates the yearbook boosters which follow.
